OPERATION FOR PEARSON

OTTAWA (CP)—Prime Minister Pearson will enter hospital today for removal of a small cyst in the right side of his neck.

The 66-year-old prime minister will be in hospital for two or three days and then will spend about a seven-day recuperative period at Harrington Lake, his summer residence.

Justice Minister Chevrier will be acting prime minister throughout the period of his absence.

Richard O'Hagan, Mr. Pearson's special assistant, said there is no evidence that the cyst is a malignant condition. Mr. Pearson first noticed it about five or six weeks ago. It is uncomfortable but not painful.

The operation will take place Friday morning.

Mr. Pearson's general health, apart from the cyst, is good. It will be the first time he has been in hospital for 45 years.

He suffered leg and back injuries in a crash of a plane on a training flight in 1918.

Staff Chiefs To Testify

OTTAWA (CP)—The new Commons defence committee agreed today to a precedent-setting move—hearing testimony by the chiefs of staff of the armed forces.

Columbia Hitch Denied

So far as the B.C. government is concerned, its agreement with Ottawa on development of the Columbia River project is all on the rails and ready for signing by both parties.

This was made clear today by both Premier Bennett and Lands Minister Ray Williston, despite reports from Ottawa Wednesday that some last minute hitches have developed.

Premier Bennett said his understanding was that the agreement was to be placed before the federal cabinet at its meeting today.

Final details were worked out after three days of meetings between B.C. and federal officials ended in the national capital on Wednesday.

Mr. Bennett and Mr. Williston were furious at Ottawa reports which suggested the agreement was facing new snags and that new cost estimates would throw the whole plan out of kilter.

"Nothing but political propaganda—from what motives I would not know," snapped the premier.

"Complete garbage," snorted Mr. Williston.

'Nothing Clewed Up'

Times Ottawa Bureau
OTTAWA—Acting Prime Minister Chevrier today told the Commons that "nothing has been clewed up insofar as the Columbia River is concerned."

He was answering a question by H. W. Herridge (NDP—Kootenay West), about reports from Victoria that the B.C. government denied the existence of any new difficulties.

"I can only say that the negotiations are under way and it would not be proper at this stage to reveal their nature," External Affairs Minister Martin added.

HELLYER
... revamps policy

Stockpiled Arms 'Safe'

By ALEX YOUNG
Times Ottawa Bureau

OTTAWA—Voodoo interceptors stationed at five RCAF bases across Canada—including those at Comox, B.C.—will not be "flying around during day-to-day operations" with nuclear rockets aboard, Defence Minister Paul Hellyer promised today.

"Normal training and operational interceptions would be done, as they are by the U.S. Air Force, with aircraft equipped with high explosive—not atomic—rockets," Mr. Hellyer told the Commons defence committee.

But in the event of attack on North America they would be armed with nuclear warheads. Those weapons, however, would have to be released by the president of the U.S., and then no take-off of the RCAF planes would be permitted without the next step in emergency procedure—approval of the Canadian government.

Mr. Churchill, terming the statement "a bit unusual" said he could accept it only as a statement of Mr. Sauve's personal opinion.

"If we are going to get off on the right foot I think it far better for the committee to determine its own purposes."

Harold Winch (NDP—Vancouver East) said Mr. Sauve "had the right idea," though the committee was interested in present as well as future defence policy.

Gerald Laniel (L—Beauharnois-Salaberry), proposed a motion to adopt Mr. Sauve's statement as committee policy. But when Gerald Baldwin (PC—Peace River), disagreed, Mr. Sauve said quickly that there was no need for any motion.

Mr. Sauve said: "We want Continued on Page 2

Defence Costs Scrutinized

OTTAWA (CP)—Defence Minister Hellyer indicated today he wants to scrap the eight-ship, $374,000, 000 naval frigate program initiated by the former government to give him financial room to manoeuvre in selection of new weapons.

(B.C. shipbuilders have been counting on getting contracts for three of the proposed frigates—one each to Victoria Machinery Depot Ltd. and Yarrow Ltd. in Victoria, and to Burrard Dry Dock Ltd. in North Vancouver.)

Mr. Hellyer also hinted before the Commons defence committee that more transport aircraft will be obtained to carry at least one 6,000-man army brigade and that he will reject the RCAF proposal for acquisition of more CF-104 low-level nuclear jet bombers.

Mr. Hellyer, in his first major policy speech since he assumed the defence portfolio April 22, said at one point: "All major procurement programs are being reconsidered. In particular, any procurement program which would tend to limit future policy of interdependence with the exercise of future options is being carefully reviewed."

"One of the programs is the general purpose frigate program. It is a project involving the expenditure of large sums of money. For this reason all present and likely future options have to be carefully considered before proceeding."

One of these options, he said, was construction of fast anti-submarine hydrofoil boats. A $9,100,000 contract was awarded to de Havilland Aircraft of Canada Limited last month for a prototype 200-ton hydrofoil.

Alarm Didn't Ring In Yates St. Raid

'RED' WATER FOR COLONY

HONG KONG (AP)—The first shipload of water sent from Communist China to drought-stricken Hong Kong started flowing into the British colony's mains today.

The Liberian tanker Janthe brought 3,200,000 gallons Wednesday night from Red China's Pearl River. Red China is furnishing the water free.

A seven-month drought, worst in Hong Kong's history, has reduced the individual ration to four hours of tap water every fourth day. Consumption is 40,000,000 gallons a day, compared with 100,000,000 gallons normally.

The smash and grab raid was discovered by a janitor when he went to work at the store shortly before 7 this morning.

City police immediately alerted RCMP and Vancouver police about the theft and then checked all Victoria hotels looking for known criminals.

The thief was partly shielded by lumber erected on the sidewalk at a construction site at Douglas and Yates beside the store.

NEIGHBORS ALL DROPPED IN

'Cousin Jack' Visits Home of Forefathers

DUNGANSTOWN, Ireland (AP)—President Kennedy returned to the homestead of his Irish forefathers today and drank tea in the barnyard with his cousins and their neighbors.

The president's third cousin, widow Mary Ann Ryan, laid long tables for tea, cakes and pies to serve "cousin Jack."

Neighbors, some in their Sunday best and some in aprons, helped serve.

The party assembled in the barnyard between Mrs. Ryan's house and the tin-roofed cottage the president's great-grandfather Patrick Kennedy left when he emigrated to Boston 120 years ago.

The cottage now is a storage shed.

Hundreds of jubilant Irish milled around the lane in front of Mrs. Ryan's home.

The president came to the hamlet of Dunganstown after a tumultuous welcome from thousands at nearby New Ross, the port from which Patrick Kennedy sailed to the United States.

"If he hadn't left, I'd be working at the Albattross Company," Kennedy told the welcomers, drawing a roar of laughter.

The Albattross Company is a fertilizer factory on the other side of the River Barrow.

The president arrived in New Ross by helicopter and drove to his ancestral home.

The farmyard was crammed with Kennedys. Mrs. Ryan was a Kennedy and she introduced cousins, uncles and aunts.

In the field behind the farmhouse, where the presidential helicopter was parked, several dozen children assembled as a "guard of honor." The little girls—starched and combed—looked uncomfortable but pretty.

Mrs. Ryan served the president his tea, which he took with sugar. He munched on a sandwich and chatted in complete informality with the Irish farmers, their wives and children.

FOUND MICROPHONE
Kennedy, strolling around, found a microphone near the cake table. He picked it up and said "Hello."

He cut a white cake baked in the farmhouse and thanked Mrs. Ryan and "all the Kennedys who stayed here" for the party.

"This was a fine effort and we thank you very much," the president said. "I promise you we won't come back often but once every 10 years."

Professional and amateur photographers went to work on the family gathering and Kennedy obliged by posing with the Irish Kennedys.

Ambassador Matthew McCloskey kept reminding the president it was time to go but Kennedy was having too good a time to tear himself away.

LOS ANGELES—Actress Eva Norde says disclosure of her address and unlisted telephone number on the Steve Allen television show invaded her privacy to the tune of $200,000.

The actress filed suit for the amount in Superior Court Wednesday against Allen. Also named as defendants were Allen's Meadowland Enterprises, Paramount Television and Westinghouse Broadcasting Company.

She alleged that Allen asked the audience last June during a telecast whether anyone had a little black book. She said Don Alberta, another defendant, stood up, gave out her address and telephone number and called her one of his "swinging girl friends."

Miss Norde said disclosure of her address and telephone number resulted in numerous calls, forcing her to move and change her phone number. As a result, she lost job opportunities, she said.

BEDFORD, Pa.—Victor Bachor, 36, Pittsburgh, a Greyhound bus driver, today went a little beyond his company's slogan of "Take the bus and leave the driving to us."

Bachor helped deliver a five-pound, three-ounce baby girl in his bus at 6:30 a.m. while en route to New York from Cleveland.

MARYSVILLE, Calif.—At the rural Linda fire station, Chief Charley Miller could always count on volunteer Larry Barrie, 19.

But lately, fighting 16 grass fires, Miller said Barrie outdid himself. The chief said the lad often was the first to report into the station and often had the engine warmed up ready to go when the chief showed up.

After blaze No. 16, Miller found out why. Police said witnesses saw Barrie driving his car along a road dropping lighted matches into the dry grass, then roaring off to the fire station. Barrie was booked on an arson charge.

SOUTHAMPTON, Eng.—A five-gallon keg of bourbon whisky, a gift to Sir Winston Churchill from the state of Kentucky, was unloaded Wednesday from the liner United States so the wartime prime minister—an honorary U.S. citizen—can celebrate July 4 with it. Accompanying the keg was a certificate commissioning him a Kentucky colonel.

GRANTHAM, Eng.—Queen Mother Elizabeth had to borrow six pence from park supt. Jeff Tennent Wednesday. The money was to pay a customary tribute given when she received a garden tool to plant a tree in the town park. She said she had no money with her at the time.

LONDON—An unknown man tried to kiss Princess Margaret Wednesday night as she entered the Sadler's Wells Theatre to attend a charity performance of Handel's opera Iulio Cesare. A theatre spokesman said: "We saw a quiet, inoffensive man with a bow tie standing in the foyer with all the people. We called the manager over and he asked if the man had a ticket."

"The man said he did not have a ticket and he was not going into the show. The manager said, 'you will have to leave.' He was being ushered to the door when the royal party arrived."

"The Princess looked startled for a second but went on calmly chatting with the guests afterwards."

The Princess was attending a gala performance of Iulio Cesare, in aid of the Sunshine homes and schools for blind children.

Family Kept Woman Locked Up 30 Years

GALESVILLE, Wis. (AP)—A 49-year-old woman was freed Tuesday from a locked room where she had been kept for 30 years by her parents, according to Trempleau County authorities.

People who took her from her home said she was barefoot, wearing only a jacket and trousers. Her body, face and arms were covered with deep scars and her tangled hair was waist length. She had only a single tooth.

Hospital authorities said that otherwise she appeared in good health.

She punched, scratched and kicked officers who took her to a nearby hospital, but became calm on the way to Galesville, in western Wisconsin. She was taken later to a state hospital in Madison.

Authorities said the woman had been living in the room since 1933, and had been fed from a small pan, pushed through a hole in the wall. County authorities declined any identification and were reluctant to talk about the case.

200 'Lost' In Sinking Of Canoes

LAGOS, Nigeria (AP)—The Nigerian government is investigating charges that an anti-smuggling patrol sank four giant canoes in the Gulf of Guinea last weekend with the loss of 200 lives.

I. A. Brown, a member of Parliament, claimed that the canoes—running contraband from the Spanish island of Fernando Po—were attacked from the sea and air by "squads of the customs preventive service."

"My information is that some 200 people lost their lives in the encounter," Brown said. "I am told that 150 people were wounded and a large number of these are now being treated in Oron Methodist Hospital."

He said it was "absolutely outrageous" for customs officers to have fired on "unarmed traders."

The doctor in charge at the hospital told reporters Wednesday night, however, "we have seen no wounded and no dead."

Customs board chief D. Ezeogosi said he knew nothing of Brown's charges, and a government spokesman said it was believed that some canoes capsized off the Nigerian coast in a heavy storm during the weekend, killing about 65 persons.

Deadline Denied

Chief negotiator for 2,400 coast longshoremen today denied that dockmen have set 5 p.m. Friday as a strike deadline against the B.C. shipping industry.

Roy Smith, chairman of the bargaining committee for International Longshoremen's and Warehousemen's Union, embroiled in a contract negotiation with B.C. Shipping Federation and Wharf Operators' Association for 15 months, said "There is no strike deadline at all."

He said it is also untrue that the union had refused to meet again with shipping spokesmen after renewed bargaining talks were suspended Monday.

"We agreed to meet jointly," Mr. Smith said in Vancouver just after noon today.

But, he said, employers had asked for time to consider the latest proposal in negotiations and were given until Friday morning.

"We said we wouldn't implement the strike vote until at least 5 p.m. Friday," Mr. Smith said.

"I see no problems on the Columbia."

He said the B.C. cabinet has already approved the draft agreement worked out at a federal-provincial meeting early in June.

Three B.C. officials began a second round of talks in Ottawa Monday.

They were deputy attorney-general Dr. Gilbert Kennedy, deputy water controller Gordon Kidd and B.C. Hydro economist Denis Kennedy.

Mr. Bennett said the talks were because both B.C. and Ottawa wanted "some small changes" in the original draft. They do not affect the overall concept of the agreement.

"As far as I know, everything is going along very well," Mr. Bennett said.

He said reports that the reworded agreement was accepted and submitted to the federal cabinet today were "factual and accurate."

If it's approved, he added, it will be formally typed up and then—"they'll sign it and we'll sign it."

Mr. Williston said the only reason he could see for anyone writing stories suggesting there are snags would be an attempt to frustrate the whole project.

abruptly. Finally the president boarded his helicopter to fly to Wexford.

GREETED BY THOUSANDS

In Wexford, by the Irish Sea, thousands greeted the president and offered him the freedom of the city.

The offer is esteemed by Irishmen, although about all it actually provides is that Kennedy would have first call for a bed in the poorhouse, should he need it.

The navy provided the guard of honor on the dockside where a statue of Commodore John Barry, a native of Wexford, stands. The Irish relish the inscription on the monument that Barry scored the first naval victory over the British in the American War of Independence, and also fired the final shots.

The president landed in his helicopter at the Wexford Park soccer field and motored past cheering crowds to the Barry statue on Crescent Quay.

The town declared the day a holiday except for essential services.

Then the president motored to Redmond Place, a plaza in front of the railway station where Lord Mayor Thomas A. Byrne welcomed him, read the resolution making the president a freeman of the city, and presented him with a scroll and a silver casket.

"We confer the highest honor in our power on a distinguished descendant of a County Wexford man," the lord mayor said.

UDALL ... reports favorable

Power Pact Given Boost By '60 Days'

WASHINGTON (UPI)—Interior Secretary Stewart L. Udall said today Canadian Prime Minister Lester B. Pearson's "60 days of decision" had been good days for the U.S.-Canadian Columbia River treaty.

Udall told a news conference no date had been set for a resumption of negotiations between the United States and Canada on the power development pact.

He noted, however, that there had been discussions in Ottawa between Canadian federal government officials and British Columbia Premier W. A. C. Bennett on what changes Canada will seek in the treaty. Udall said all reports indicated developments had been favorable.

"I think most of the developments in the last 60 days since the new government took over in Canada have been favorable developments," Udall said.

TWO DODOS—ONE ROUND 'FANTASTIC!'

STAUNTON, Va. (AP)—Jim Trimble, a 59-year-old contractor, scored two holes-in-one on the same 18-hole round of golf Wednesday over the Augusta Country Club course near here.

Trimble, a golfer for 20 years, notched his first ace on the 170-yard eighth hole and matched the feat on the 178-yard 18th. He used a seven-iron on both holes. "I couldn't see the first one because No. 8 is uphill," Trimble reported. On the 18th, he said, "My ball hit about three feet short, bounced up and rolled to the pin. I almost dropped over. I just said, 'That's it. That's fantastic!'"

UN Maps Formula For Peace-Keeping

UNITED NATIONS (AP)—United Nations General Assembly today approved a stop-gap financial package to keep The Congo and Middle East peace-keeping operations going for the rest of the year.

The plan consists of seven resolutions. They authorize spending $42,500,000 to pay the costs of the two projects until the end of 1963, set forth a compromise formula to raise the money and establish guidelines for financial future UN peace-keeping undertakings.

"Efforts will be continued to collect the millions of dollars which the Soviet bloc, France and other countries have refused to pay for Congo and Middle East operations, thereby plunging the world organization into its financial crisis."

The resolutions were worked out by private negotiations which had been under way since the 111-nation assembly was called into special session May 14.

The vote on the various proposals ranged from 92 to 12 to 79 to 12 with the Soviet bloc voting against all of them. France and Cuba voted against The Congo appropriations. Canada supported the proposals.

The key resolutions provided that money for current Congo and Middle East forces would be raised by a combination of assessments and voluntary contributions.

Secretary-General U Thant was authorized to continue the sale of UN bonds to raise cash until Dec. 31, 1963, instead of stopping the sale at the end of this month.

Blast at de Gaulle Kennedy's Revenge

By JAMES MARLOW
Associated Press News Analyst

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Kennedy waited six months until he got to Europe to do an extraordinary job on French President de Gaulle for the damage he caused the Western alliance.

In his major policy speech Tuesday at Frankfurt, Kennedy, with all Europe listening, ripped into de Gaulle for suggesting the United States might run out on its allies in case of attack.

This was probably the harshest criticism—even though Kennedy did not mention de Gaulle by name—that any U.S. president has made on an allied leader since the war.

This made the relationship between the two men frigid. It was already cold. De Gaulle had not asked Kennedy to stop off in

PICKED WORST DAY
Of all the days in the year on which he could have belittled the United States, de Gaulle picked the worst one, last Jan. 14, the day Kennedy delivered his State-of-the-Union message to Congress.

That was an extremely sunny, optimistic Kennedy message which said: "How fares the Grand Alliance? Free Europe is entering into a new phase of its long and brilliant history."

De Gaulle made the words look ludicrous before Kennedy got them out of his mouth. The French leader held a press conference just a few hours before Kennedy spoke. The timing was no accident. He holds few such conferences.

In summary, de Gaulle did these four things:
1. He rejected the American proposal for a multi-national nuclear force and proclaimed his determination to build a separate French nuclear force.

(This was exactly what Kennedy didn't want. It meant one more nuclear power in the world and would be encouragement to other countries to do the same.)

SLAMS DOOR
2. He slammed Europe's Common Market door in Britain's face, treating his British ally as an outsider.

(This galled up Anglo-

American hopes for a united European economic effort and weakened both economic and political unity among the allies.

3. He said France opposed a Common Market "under American leadership and domination."

(This was a slap in the face. It galled the United States which resented the suggestion it was trying to run Europe.)

4. He complained that while the United States talked of a multi-national NATO nuclear force for Europe, that force would remain under U.S. control.

(He hit the mark there. Under law passed by Congress this government must retain full control of nuclear weapons, deciding whether or not to use them.)

KICKED AGAIN

April 19, de Gaulle kicked the United States again by suggesting France could not be sure of the intentions of its allies, much less of its enemies.

Against this background it's understandable why Kennedy on his present European trip has repeatedly assured the allies the United States would defend Europe from attack even if it meant attack on the United States.

He said Tuesday "the United States will risk its cities to defend yours because we need your freedom to protect ours." But he went far beyond that by implying de Gaulle was playing into Russia's hands by casting doubt on the alliance and American intentions. He said: "Those who would cast doubt on our pledge—those who would separate Europe from America or split one ally from another—would only give aid and comfort to the men who make themselves our adversaries and welcome any Western disarray."

Speaker Kills Bid To Widen Budget Debate

OTTAWA (CP)—The minority Liberal government pushes on with its legislative program in the Commons today after riding out a 12-day storm sparked by the budget.

By a vote of 119 to 74 the government was upheld Wednesday in the budget debate. Social Credit MPs sided with the Liberals while the New Democrats, for the second time in three days, abstained from voting.

The vote concluded the six-day debate on Finance Minister Walter Gordon's June 13 budget. Today the Commons will consider a government bill to establish a department of industry.

The Conservatives started the Wednesday session with a motion to set aside the day's business in order that the Commons might hold a special debate on sharp criticisms of the budget made Tuesday by Quebec Liberal Premier Jean Lesage.

INCREASES STRAIN

Former transport minister Leon Balcer said Mr. Lesage's "violent denunciations" of the federal Liberals "increased the strain on Confederation" and warranted an urgent debate.

Speaker Alan Macnaughton ruled the motion out of order. He said the subject could be discussed later during the budget debate.

Mr. Balcer and other Conservatives appealed the ruling and Mr. Speaker said rulings on such motions cannot be appealed. Mr. Balcer appealed this ruling but the Speaker was upheld by a vote of 108 to 107.

The vote on the budget represented a test of Commons strength for the government which is four members short of a majority.

The question period and the other developments left only 12 minutes for the conclusion of the budget debate in the abbreviated 3½-hour Wednesday sitting.

Social Credit Leader Robert Thompson said the budget was "the biggest disappointment in years" for Canadian taxpayers. He urged that the 11-per-cent sales tax on building supplies and production machinery be withdrawn or at least suspended until Jan. 1.

Earlier, Prime Minister Pearson said the government does not intend to investigate trading of certain shares just before the budget speech.

Arms Dumps Confirmed By Hellyer

OTTAWA (CP)—Defence Minister Hellyer confirmed in the Commons Wednesday that the defence department plans to establish nuclear storage dumps at five RCAF stations—including Comox—in Canada as soon as the necessary agreements have been signed with the United States.

Colin Cameron (NDP—Nanaimo-Cowichan—The Islands) used a Canadian Press story to this effect earlier in the week as the basis of an unsuccessful attempt Wednesday to have an emergency Commons debate on the subject.

He sought to have a special discussion on "the release (Tuesday) to the press by the department of national defence of information of vital concern to the country" before such information was made available to the Commons.

Mr. Cameron said it was urgent that the House receive from the minister an explanation of "this extraordinary procedure" which was a "gross discourtesy" to the Commons and to the special committee on defence, which held its first meeting today.

Mr. Hellyer replied that "as far as I know there is no truth whatsoever in this report," adding he was surprised Mr. Cameron would take such action "without taking the trouble to check with me and find out whether in fact such a release was made."

"As far as I know, no such release exists," the minister said.

RACIAL POLICY 'BANKRUPT,' SAYS SINGER

TORONTO (CP)—Negro singer Harry Belafonte attacked President Kennedy Wednesday for his "bankrupt" policy on integration.

"As president and moral leader, Kennedy has been terribly bankrupt in administering the type of force he should have been administering from the very beginning," he told a luncheon to raise money for the Martin Luther King fund.

"It's unfortunate. It took him so long to become politically mature."

Belafonte said the racial struggle has reached such intense ferocity that "there is no longer any middle of the road."

The Martin Luther King fund was organized by Toronto religious groups to provide money for the struggle against segregation in the southern United States.

The luncheon, with 325 people attending, gathered a total of $8,000 in cheques to further the cause of Mr. King, a leader of non-violent integration in the south.

Builders Protest New Levy

OTTAWA (CP)—The Canadian Construction Association, fighting for at least a deferral of the 11-per-cent sales tax on building materials, told Finance Minister Gordon today the tax's detrimental effect more than offsets a budget stimulus to the economy.

"The tax will have a detrimental effect on the economy and will more than offset the other budget objectives of stimulating the economy and increasing employment," association President T. A. Somerville of Toronto said in a written submission to Mr. Gordon.

Mr. Somerville and a group of senior officers of the association, which includes a large segment of the building industry, presented Mr. Gordon with a brief outlining their objections to the tax imposed in the June 13 budget on building materials not contracted for before that date.

More than 1,200 former Oak Bay High School students filed into their old classrooms Wednesday night at 8.

Some of the students were a little long in the tooth, but none of them lacked in school spirit. And a few of them had maintained this spirit for more than 37 years.

The old boys and girls were coming back to school to bid farewell to Charlie Gibbard, retiring this year, as principal after an association with the school dating to 1926.

Every class since then was represented. The ex-pupils swarmed along corridors which hadn't been there when most of them were, and crowded into their old "home rooms."

BOISTEROUS OLD BOYS

Later, Mr. Gibbard presided over perhaps the most boisterous assembly in his career. One by one representatives of four decades of students who passed through his hands spoke fondly of their days at Oak Bay High, and paid tribute to the retiring principal.

Dr. Alec Gunning, self-styled representative of the "roaring '20s," recalled overhauling Mr. Gibbard's head with a colleague to take a detention period, "because I have a date over on St. Patrick Street."

"Charlie was tough, but Charlie was always fair," Dr. Gunning confessed.

'DONE' OR 'DID'

Dr. Bob Lane, representing the 1930's, recalled Mr. Gibbard's attitude to a paperback, popular among students in his day, entitled "She Done Him Wrong."

"Charlie's only complaint was that it should have been 'did,'" Dr. Lane said.

In the modern idiom he told the audience to "color him tolerant."

NEW VIOLENCE IN CONGO

ELISABETHVILLE (AP)—A Belgian trader was murdered and a British vice-consul shot at and robbed in separate incidents on the main road from Elisabethville to the Rhodesias, it was reported today.

The Belgian, Marcel Borg, 68, was found battered to death

Tuesday night in his home at Mushoshi, 50 miles from here, police said. Two months ago a school teacher was murdered in the area, and last year an Italian couple was murdered in Mushoshi.

The British vice-consul, Paul R. H. Davis, 30, was on his way back to Elisabethville from Kitwe, Northern Rhodesia, Wednesday when Katangan gendarmes stopped him 10 miles from here.

He said the gendarmes ordered him out of his car after taking his money. Then, he said, he was shot at from the bush. He escaped by jumping aboard a passing army truck.

The Dead Weight

THE OTTAWA JOURNAL WAS closer to the Diefenbaker government than any other Canadian newspaper and stood with it, almost alone, to the end. But The Journal is too honest a newspaper to distort the facts or cook the figures. A few days ago it presented facts and figures that the ordinary citizen, puzzled by the intricacies of a new budget, can easily understand.

Looking back over the fiscal record since Mr. Diefenbaker came to office in 1957, The Journal remarks that "spending comes easy to governments; saving, even in the best of years, seems very difficult. But national debt is not just a stroke of the pen in the accounts. It is a visible and impending burden that limits what the nation is able to do.

"Think of what Canada could do, in extension of social services or in public works, with the $881,008,900 which has to be provided for interest charges on the public debt this year, $92,827,600 more than in 1962-63."

The national debt, as The Journal adds, is a dead weight, but it was increased by $709 millions (the final Diefenbaker deficit) in the last year to bring it to $13,937,000,000.

These figures, as The Journal recalls them, are depressing. Debt, representing deficit, was increased by $609 millions in 1958-59; by $413 millions in 1959-60; by $340 millions in 1960-61; by $791 millions in 1961-62; by $709 millions in 1962-63 (when the Diefenbaker government promised to cut that total in half by so-called "austerity"). The six-year deficit, therefore, totals almost $3 billions.

As The Journal remarks, "we have reached the point where debt charges rise almost as fast as the costs of social security. Last year the debt cost 14 per cent of the total budgetary expenditure; health, welfare and social security cost 20 per cent. This cannot go on indefinitely with debt charges taking more and more of the national income."

Quite rightly, The Journal notes that the Pearson government proposes to increase the debt. Not only must it borrow for $585 millions to cover another deficit (substantially lower than that of the last year) but it intends to borrow some $400 millions for lending to the municipalities.

That money, however, as The Journal does not mention, should be repayable by the municipal governments, in whole or at least in large part. Nevertheless, all such expenditures represent debt whose cost falls, broadly speaking, on the same taxpayer.

The Journal is quite right, too, in saying that at some point there must be an end to extra debt contracted not for constructive, economic purposes but solely for house-keeping expenses.

"Either Canada begins trimming her debt," The Journal concludes, "or the debt will trim her into ineffectiveness and poverty." Amen to that.

A Building of Past and Future

INCLUSION OF SPACE FOR part of the archives in the proposed new museum building is a logical and commendable step. While the part of the archives devoted to historical documents and records should remain with the provincial library, or conceivably have its own building, the rest of the collection of valuable objects will form a natural adjunct to the museum's display of the story of man in this area.

The museum building will be a very important addition to the educational and cultural life of the capital city, as well as a long-needed showcase where visitors may see the fauna and flora of the area in suitable surroundings, and our anthropological exhibits properly displayed. Important as the "sight-seeing" aspect is, however, the new museum will perform a very valuable function as a centre for work by experts and students, a theatre for public lectures, and a repository for the wealth of materials we have and will yet acquire for ourselves and posterity.

In view of the building's prominence not only in function but in location, it is essential that it be imaginative and attractive in appearance, that the needs of those who will occupy it be properly assessed and met, and that the experience and wisdom of outside experts in the intricate field of museum planning be sought and given full consideration.

A modern museum is no longer merely a set of rooms in which glass cases of animals and birds are put on view. The art of layout and display has advanced enormously in the past few years and we should take full advantage of all the latest developments in planning a centre which will serve us for generations to come.

Entirely Normal?

MR. REAL CAQUETTE CLAIMS a great Canadian heritage by virtue of his race. Yet one wonders if his forbears who pioneered the eastern part of this land would accept the scandalous philosophy he now publicizes.

In a taped French-language radio speech last Sunday, the deputy leader of the Social Credit Party said: "Considering the abuses of which French Canadians are victims, it is entirely normal that discontent should rule in the province and groups such as the FLQ which claimed credit for an 11-week series of bombings in the Montreal area should be formed."

What is Mr. Caquette saying? That the lot of French Canadians today is so hard that they must resort to murder to better it? That every English-speaking Canadian's hand is against them, so that revenge must be sought through booby-trap bombings to kill, maim, and destroy? That it is "normal" for Canadians of any racial origin to resort to the cowardly and despicable practice of hiding death in mailboxes for innocent people to encounter?

What nonsense this is. What a cheap and unprincipled attempt to rouse emotions in ignorant listeners. What a shoddy way to try to curry political support.

If terrorism is "normal" to Mr. Caquette, thank goodness Mr. Caquette is not normal to French-Canadian life. We can do without furtive bombings, and without Mr. Caquette's justification for such tactics too.

Another Round

ONCE MORE A PLAN TO RE-organize traffic at the Roundabout is under consideration. The chief proposal appears to be installation of traffic lights activated by the passage of the cars themselves, and removal of the green lawn which has become a familiar feature of the multi-intersection.

Admittedly the present system of control at rush hours is not perfect. Nor is the priority system in effect at other times. Both work, however, and hold-ups at the circle are rarely longer than would be the case if the driver were waiting for a light to change.

The new system should be installed on the basis that it must prove itself, and tests before and after should be carried out to provide a proper statistical background. Costliness and intricacy do not guarantee results in traffic control, for the ultimate aim of control is to provide the greatest freedom of flow possible.

Problem of Proverbs

REUTERS REPORTS THE USE by Peking of an old Chinese proverb to discredit Mr. Khrushchev.

Mr. K, say the Red Chinese, is an opportunist who claims credit for Soviet space achievements which, the Chinese argue, stem from a program developed under Stalin by people like Malenkov, Bulganin and Molotov, whom Mr. Khrushchev has ousted.

The Chinese proverb says: "He who plants the tree seldom reaps the fruit."

There is, of course, a more familiar proverb which says: "As ye sow, so shall ye reap," which could provide an appropriate rejoinder by Mr. Khrushchev if he decides to "go west."

FROM WASHINGTON

NATO: Obstruction From the General

By WALTER LIPPMANN

BEFORE the President left Washington, General de Gaulle withdrew the rest of the French navy from the NATO command.

The timing of the action and the blunt and curt manner in which it was done have to be taken as notice to the President that France will not only refuse to help the revival of NATO, but will act positively to obstruct the revival.

There is little question but that General de Gaulle has the power to force the issue if he chooses to do so. Strategically, the NATO command and the core of its communications and supply are on French territory, and there is no telling how long France, which has withdrawn its navy and most of its army, will leave the arrangements as they are. Certainly, General de Gaulle has very strong bargaining power in any discussion about the future of NATO.

Lippmann

Powerful Leverage

He has also a very powerful leverage on the other five members of the Common Market. By withdrawing from it, he can destroy it, and the career of the general shows again and again that one of the weapons he uses most efficiently and is most likely to use is to abstain and withdraw.

None of his fellow members in the Common Market is prepared to risk a dissolution. That is one of the compelling reasons why we can afford no illusion about the chances of West Germany challenging General de Gaulle effectively for the leadership of Europe.

In his welcoming speech at the airport near Cologne, Chancellor Adenauer wasted little time on the diplomatic niceties. He read the President a lecture which was sharp notice that while the United States must guarantee the military security of Western Europe, the President must not challenge the primacy of the Paris-Bonn combination in making the policies for dealing with the Soviet Union.

Visitor Nailed

He went so far as to quote to the President sentences taken out of the context of what the President said at American University. The President will be making several speeches in Germany, and it will be important to see if and how he extricates himself from the position to which Dr. Adenauer nailed him on his arrival at the airport.

In any event, the chancellor's speech may be taken to mean that, unless his successor makes a sharp break with present German policy, West Germany will remain completely dependent on Paris. For only Paris will support Bonn on an absolutely hard line about East Germany and Berlin. In all the other allied countries, including the United States, there is an inclination to explore the possibility of reunification to be brought about by dealing with the two German states.

This is what Dr. Adenauer had in mind when he lectured the President at the airport. As long as he continues to speak for West Germany, Bonn is inseparably tied to General de Gaulle.

We must not let ourselves be misled by the plea that the Germans and the other Europeans need to be reassured once more that the United States will wage a thermonuclear war to defend them. The real situation is not nearly so simple as that.

The French, who are more frank and lucid than most, say that in the nuclear age no ally can be counted upon to risk its own overwhelming destruction in order to protect the national interests of another ally. Therefore, no matter how often the President pledges the country to do or die, the French, and a growing number of Europeans, will not believe him. For a promise to commit national suicide is not, say the annoying French, entirely credible.

At the same time, the French are a very long way from having a nuclear deterrent of their own capable of dealing with the Soviet Union without the help of the United States. The question, then, is: why do they treat us so scornfully?

Missing Key

The answer is that they are entirely certain that there is no real danger of Soviet military aggression against Western Europe. That is the missing key to the Gaullist policy which seems so destructive and so reckless.

The French do not believe that NATO will be needed. That is why they are pulling it apart. They do not think that the American alliance is really necessary. In the French view, even if it were necessary, the United States could not be counted upon as a result of promises and pacts.

Corrections

I wish to correct certain misstatements of fact which appeared in an advertisement in your paper Saturday last.

1. Major works of mosaic have been executed by Canadian artists. Within the last eight or ten years alone works have been executed in Vancouver, Calgary, Winnipeg and other centres by B. C. Binning (Vancouver), Lionel Thomas (Vancouver), George Swinton (Winnipeg) and others.

2. The skill required to design for mosaic and to execute mosaics can be taught to Victoria high school students. (Please accept the severe limitations of space imposed by our school plant and the size of classes.)

3. The three critics presumably referred to cannot, on the basis of formal training alone, be considered "amateur" any more than a registered medical practitioner in the Province of British Columbia can be considered amateur in his field.

Unnecessary Waste of Time

It is with serious concern that I read in your paper from time to time of the efforts of a few individuals who are trying to force the French language, and a French Canadian chosen flag on to this British Commonwealth nation of Canada.

Even a B.C. cabinet minister and an MLA have extolled the virtues of bilingualism, and bi-culturalism for our young people. This may be a pleasant theory, but think of the agony, the suffering, the utter waste of time in trying to force our children to attempt to learn a language for which they have no use, and utterly no excuse for having to study. I am referring now to the suggestion of teaching French in the lower grades of primary school. Let those who wish to do so learn it in high school. I am all in favor of bi-culturalism for those adults who wish to indulge in it.

The study of French by our children, as a means of promoting bi-culturalism, is entirely unnecessary. It is a backward and retrogressive step at a time when the peoples of the world must go forward.

In the United States of America they have had many millions of French, Spanish, Dutch, etc., of original founders of the nation. But there is never talk of multi-lingualism in the U.S.A. They have all united in one language, one flag, one nation, for the good and benefit of all the people. Most of the French-Canadians speak or understand English, so there is no excuse for encouraging a policy that would require the bulk of our population to learn another language just to please a few die-hards.

Our children today seem to have serious difficulty in becoming proficient in reading, spelling, arithmetic and writing. Many high school students are so poor in these subjects that it is tragic. Should we give them more time and practice in school hours to work on these studies they so desperately need or should we take away some of the time they now have in order to force them unwillingly to learn the French language?

Prime Minister Lester Pearson has announced quite openly that he will force a "distinctive" flag on the Canadian people. We have a distinctive and a well beloved flag. Our Red Ensign was proclaimed many years ago by Order in Council to be our official Canadian flag.

Let us all speak up now before it is too late, and tell Mr. Pearson, and all our government leaders, that we love our red ensign, Canada's flag; and that we will have no other.

Bitter Attack

Mr. H. Bitterman is very bitter about how the unemployed use the taxpayers' money to buy drink.

It would be a reasonable question to ask this gentleman if he has ever done heavy manual labor for a long time? And afterwards has he ever been unemployed for a lengthy period of time? Surely he is well aware of the undeniable fact that men over 40 will not be considered by large industrial plants as prospective employees.

The writer is an Irish-Canadian citizen who has long admired Canadian workers for their untiring industry and zeal to turn out really good work. The unemployed may indeed be tempted to frequent beverage rooms if only for company of their fellows.

As an older man I was unemployed for many months; as a single man, I was doled out the princely sum of $13 per week! It didn't pay my living expenses and my friends know well how economically I live. With drink at its present levels what can an unemployed man afford? I had paid in all the money I got out, every penny.

Mr. Bitterman apparently wants to put what he elegantly describes as "Skidrow Bums" on some islands. Has he in mind a penal colony? The unfortunate people (men and women) who fall prey to drink and drugs deserve the practical help and sympathy of Christians, not harsh condemnation and cruel wounding words.

Unemployment, chiefly through technological knowledge which leads to automation and mergers, is number one problem in Canada, the U.S.A. and England. Berry picking is not a way to maintain a family, casual work is the curse of the Canadian labor market. Lawyers, real estate agents, insurance agents are semiparasites on the economy for they produce nothing whatever, but all draw handsome ransom from the common funds.

Law should be so simple everyone would understand it, insurance could be a government branch, as some of it now is. Real estate agents do not improve the houses they sell. Or almost never. Commissions run as high as 7 or 10 per cent on capital.

"FAIR PLAY FOR ALL"

Predatory Cats

Cat lovers will no doubt be pleased to hear that one of their underfed and prowling pets caught a quail this morning and no doubt killed it and ate it. Bird lovers will feel very differently about it.

The predatory beast was a large white cat that caught one of two quail that were on a feed table, and then made off with it in the direction of Government House grounds, in which district it seems to live, and where I have seen it previously.

I do not know to whom it belongs or whether it is just a wild cat; in any case it would be best killed and put underground. Unfortunately the law does not allow bird lovers to act that way to protect the birds, of which, quail for one, are less numerous in this neighborhood than they used to be.

DENNIS THE MENACE

OTTAWA:

Mr. Gordon's Rack

By MAURICE WESTERN

MR. T. C. DOUGLAS, the grand old Duke of York of the Canadian Parliament, marched his men to the top of the hill on Monday evening — and marched them down on the double. As another military commander remarked on a celebrated occasion, it was a "damned close thing," and very humiliating. The battle of the budget was primarily a New Democratic campaign. Mr. Fisher of Port Arthur started it; Mr. Knowles rallied the troops when they began to falter. Mr. Nowlan for the Conservatives merely wrote into the challenging amendment the ideas vigorously championed by the NDP.

Mr. Douglas himself wound up for the Opposition, searing the Government for bungling ineptitude, ridiculing the defence put up by Mr. Gordon and Mr. Sharp, blasting the budget as "bad," "dismal," inviting "distrous consequences," and roundly declaring that "no member can mislead the House without receiving the censure of the House."

Vulnerable Position

But, after thus whipping up the spirits of his warriors, Mr. Douglas peered ahead through the battle smoke and perceived a "dilemma." If he sounded the charge and the action was successful, there would be an election. The NDP was in a vulnerable position. The only thing to do was to get them off the hill. Mr. Douglas found unusual cover. The NDP abstained on the vote while the Conservatives, to their utter astonishment, charged alone.

The debate on Monday added little to the merits of Mr. Gordon's case. Essentially the minister pleaded his own good intentions and the integrity of his consultants, whom he defended against aspersions and innuendoes. He countered the criticism that he had announced withdrawal of the 30 per cent take-over tax while the markets were still open by the simple assertion that "in the light of the stock market action at the time, it was best to have made the announcement when I did."

Why did he inform the consultants? "If the consultants," said Mr. Gordon, "should have been treated differently as long as they were attached to the department, then they never should have been taken on in the first place." But, of course, it was the initial ground of attack that they ought not to have been taken on.

The heart of the matter is the charge that Mr. Gordon misled Parliament. Here the minister said in effect that he had misunderstood Mr. Diefenbaker's question of Wednesday. When he replied that he had not advised Mr. Kierans or anyone else as to withdrawal of the tax, he had understood the Conservative leader to mean "anyone else connected with the stock market."

Similar Question

Mr. Gordon might have set things straight on the following day when Mr. Balcer asked a rather similar question. He chose not to do so because Mr. Balcer used the word "consult" instead of inform. Thus the minister's answer was technically correct. But, did it constitute an adequate discharge of the minister's duty to Parliament in view of the rumors which were rife at that time?

The minister of finance, who showed the strain of his long ordeal, was much more conciliatory than on previous occasions — and therefore more persuasive.

Mr. Sharp, as a former senior civil servant with great experience in these matters, held the interest of the House, at least for the first half of his concluding speech for the Government. He compared the employment of outside consultants on the budget with the enlistment of investment dealers, also under oath of secrecy, for the conversion loan. This is at least better than earlier comparisons with various items of legislation.

Unfortunately Mr. Sharp rather lost himself in his closing remarks. After repeatedly taunting the Opposition for their failure to bring forth specific charges, justifying the appointment of a House committee, he announced that Mr. Nowlan's amendment contained a "very serious charge." The former finance minister pounced like a hawk. How then, he demanded, could Mr. Sharp deny the committee?

The point which has troubled Parliament throughout the controversy was well stated by Mr. Douglas. "It is not enough that the public interest be protected; it must manifestly be seen to be protected." This was almost the first note struck in the debate and almost the last. Despite a certain ministerial tendency to make a virtue out of what has been done, there is not much doubt in Ottawa that Mr. Douglas' second condition will be better met when the next budget is prepared for Parliament.

Gerald Waring

...REPORTING

OTTAWA—The Liberals believe that a high official of the Department of Finance sparked the Commons controversy over Finance Minister Gordon's "outside experts" by complaining about them to Douglas Fisher, the deputy leader of the NDP. And they think they know who he is.

The official's motives are not clear. Opposition MPs have criticized Gordon on the ground that by importing experts from Toronto he reflected unfairly on the able men who make up the top echelon of the Finance Department. It is suggested they felt insulted, hurt, and suffered consequent loss of morale.

However, I suspect that part of the cause of the tattling to Fisher was a nose that was out of joint because Prime Minister Pearson selected the clerk of the Privy Council, Bob Bryce, to succeed K. W. Taylor as deputy finance minister. Some of Taylor's subordinates had been backing for Taylor's job.

Bryce is a former assistant deputy minister who left the finance department for the Privy Council job nearly 10 years ago. In seven of those years he served the Conservative government, and it was an open secret that Prime Minister Diefenbaker had intended to appoint him as Taylor's successor. Taylor's underlings in the department took new heart when the Liberals came in, but the new prime minister obviously thinks as much of Bryce as Mr. Diefenbaker did.

Alvin Hamilton, the former agriculture minister, commented the other day that he sees the Liberal government making the same mistakes the Tories made in their first months in office. "And as a Canadian," he added, "I'm not happy about this."

Specifically, he sees the new Liberal ministers bowing to bureaucratic opposition to ministerial proposals that run counter to what the bureaucrats have been doing and intend to keep on doing.

This is an illuminating comment. It explains a lot about John Diefenbaker's frequent intemperate reference to "the bureaucrats." The fact is, it takes a minister with great determination, ability and strength of character to make his wishes prevail over those of an entrenched deputy whose determination, knowledge and experience are ranged against change.

With regional, religious and ethnic considerations taking precedence over ability in the appointment of many cabinet ministers, your strong, intelligent minister is the exception rather than the rule. Too often the minister is merely a political figurehead, with a strong deputy effectively controlling policy. This is a negation of democracy.

One way a minister can counter bureaucratic opposition is by bringing in independent consultants who are experts in their fields. Then he can check out the advice of his officials, the reasons why this or that cannot be done, against the fresh assessments of the "outsiders." Otherwise the minister, who more often than not has only a cursory personal knowledge of the subject, is a sitting duck for an experienced and strong-willed deputy.

Naturally the finance officials resent this innovation by Gordon that undermines their power. But the innovation is good — even Tories admit that privately. It's a method borrowed from the world of business that can shatter the unbending status quo protecting conservatism of some of the top officials that too often rejects new ideas and stultifies progress.

THE LIGHTER SIDE

By DICK WEST

Trash, Tripe, Trivia

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Last year the alleged muzzling of military officers was making headlines. And now there is a big controversy over muzzling of congressmen.

Of the two, I would say the latter is potentially more explosive.

If you muzzle a military officer, he can always relieve his frustrations by barking at an enlisted man.

But if you bottle up words in a congressman, you get a dangerous fermenting effect, like putting too much yeast in the home brew.

He is likely either to blow his cork or fly three feet into the air and bust.

Oddly enough, the muzzling of congressmen is being carried out by two of their own kind—Reps. Wayne Hays (Dem.-Ohio) and Paul C. Jones (Dem.-Mo.).

Hays got sore the other day because someone objected to his request for unanimous consent to address the House for five hours. He thereupon began to block similar requests by other members.

Since then, forensic activity in the chamber has been pretty much confined to the actual business at hand. There hasn't been an eerie silence exactly, but the decibel count is relatively anemic.

When you confine a congressman to the business at hand, you are playing a piano with only one string.

The verbal blockade was further tightened by Jones' one-man crusade to curtail the practice of "extending" remarks and otherwise having material printed in the congressional record.

Jones pointed out that the cost of printing the record had risen to $90 a page, including a lot of what he called "trash, tripe and trivia."

He urged his colleagues to show more restraint and discretion in contributing to the record, which other literary critics have described as the nearest thing we have to a national wastebasket.

And, in case some members lacked the will power to refrain from such embellishments, Jones posted himself as a sentinel to make certain they tapered off.

Needless to say, he and Hays will not be nominated as the two most popular kids on the block.

If you could hear the muffled cries of congressmen with words to disgorge and no place to utter them, it would turn your heart to butter, or at least to margarine.

Unless Hays and Jones relent soon, I fear the buildup of gaseous compression will cause our lawmakers to disintegrate.

As an act of mercy, some of us are planning to form an organization called "Verbosities Anonymous" to help them endure the ordeal. Should a congressman wake up at night with a compulsion to talk, we will lend him a tape recorder.

Plastered Plants Grow Sickly

The failure of plants to thrive around the foundations of houses, especially those newly built, can frequently be traced to pieces of concrete, stucco, plaster and other limey debris thrown there by the builders.

Acid soil plants of the heather family, members of the pine family, also, rhododendrons and azaleas are often damaged and even killed by these alkaline materials.

New house owners are advised to dig down into those strips of soil around the foundations and remove every scrap of debris. Fill in with leafmould, rotted compost and peat moss.

A concrete foundation will ultimately have much the same effect. To prevent this occurrence keep the plants well away from the foundation, and that means over two feet.

Indications of alkaline soil on the growth of acid soil plants are the drooping and yellowing of the leaves and lack of root development.

A strange fact is that it is not known for a certainty whether these so-called acid-loving plants require the actual acidity or whether it is the general condition of soil which is usually associated with acidity.

It has been found that if rhododendrons, for instance, are planted in a clay loam with the right proportion of sun and shade, a mulch of compost twice a year over the root area, and a liberal supply of water in spring and early summer, they will thrive as heartily as those in a soil known to be definitely acid.

And some of us can remember the rhododendrons on the cliffs of southern England. I have often wondered since why they were so huge and full of enormous flower trusses, when we believe the underlying cliffs are chalk.

In the meantime, here in the home gardens of Victoria, we feel that peat moss and liberal watering is the key to success with these plants.

THEY ALL LOVE A REVOLT

Mexicans Sour on Cuba

By JACK BEST

MEXICO CITY (CP) — The repercussions of the Cuban revolution are slowly dying away in Mexico.

Widespread popular enthusiasm for the revolution has given way to disenchantment.

Government officials once worried about a potentially contagious effect among poverty-stricken Mexican peasants. Now they feel the Cuban revolt was a blessing in disguise.

It could even help in the long run to avert communism in Mexico "by its bad example," one official suggests.

"Cuba's standard of living now is among the lowest in Latin America. It used to be the highest."

As long as the Cuban revolution had the earmarks of a democratic movement to put an end to dictatorship, there were hopes for it among many Mexicans.

The two peoples, neighbors across the Gulf of Mexico, have close historic ties. Mexico has its own revolutionary background and her people respond emotionally to national revolts. They like to view the great Mexican upheaval of 1910 as a model and inspiration for others seeking democracy and social justice.

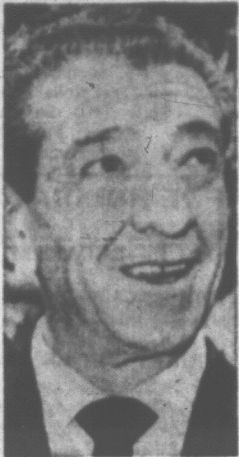

UPSET BY EXECUTIONS

Disenchantment with Castro's Cuba began with the widely publicized firing squad executions of early 1953. It deepened with the continued failure to produce a new liberal constitution.

And it was further aggravated by the confiscation of private property—"something we don't believe is correct or legal," the Mexican official said.

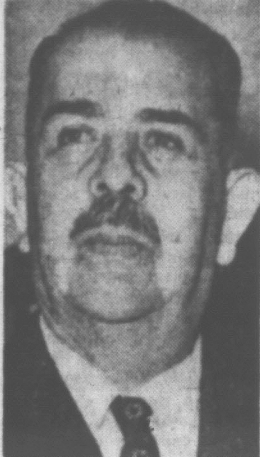

"It took us 25 years to pay for the petroleum industry after we took it over but we paid."

At one time there were pro-Castro demonstrations in Mexico City streets by students, professors and workers.

CARDENAS

... big with peasants

"But since the October missile crisis they have kept quiet. That is not an attractive banner to wave anymore, especially since it was so evident there was no consultation between Khrushchev and Castro on the missiles pull-out."

"It was a very evident case where self-determination was taken by the Kremlin. I think it was the ruin of this guy."

A Western diplomat said the Mexicans were attracted in the beginning by the idea of a Latin American country standing up to the powerful United States. But later they were repelled by evidence that Cuba had traded one master for another. And many found Castro's public espousal of Marxism-Leninism indigestible.

LEANED TOWARD CASTRO

The Cuban revolution posed serious problems for the government of President Adolfo Lopez Mateos. It had to be careful how it reacted for fear the pressure of rebellion might spread to Mexico.

The fact that a former president, Lazaro Cardenas, openly associated himself with Castro's aims served to heighten official anxiety. Cardenas has a strong hold on peasant loyalties because, while in office, he redistributed more land to landless peasants than any other Mexican leader.

Lopez Mateos himself appeared to side with Castro and this produced jitters in the business community. He once said his government was "at the extreme left within the constitution."

"My government has come out in defence of the government of the sister republic of Cuba," Lopez Mateos declared at the time of the Bay of Pigs invasion fiasco more than two years ago.

Mexico is a member of a small but influential group of Latin countries whose strict insistence of self-determination and non-intervention has killed all moves for collective hemispheric action against Castro. Others in the group are Brazil, Argentina and Chile.

OWN INTERESTS FIRST

It is not difficult, however, to see that essentially this policy is self-protective.

"In the long run, it is the only safe policy," a high-ranking official told me quite candidly. "We are thinking mainly of ourselves. They might come when the country in the dog-house is Mexico."

The attitude is based as much on the past as on what might happen in the future.

It was less than 100 years ago, in 1864, that Mexico had a taste of outside intervention. With the support of a French army under Napoleon III, Maximilian, brother of Austrian Emperor Franz Joseph, was made king of Mexico.

The monarchy didn't last long. After the French army withdrew in 1865, Maximilian fought a losing battle with the republicans and was executed in 1867.

Mexico also remembers that an American naval squadron occupied Veracruz in 1914.

And down through the years it has watched repeated U.S. interventions in other Latin American republics.

It likes to think that in opposing interference in the affairs of others it is taking out insurance against outside intervention in its own affairs.

WASHINGTON GAMBLING

Petition Stolen But Vote 'On'

OLYMPIA, Wash. (AP)—Secretary of State Victor Meyers said Wednesday an anti-gambling referendum will be included in next year's state elections even though 82,955 signatures supporting it have been stolen.

His action was challenged by William Howard, Seattle attorney for the Amusement Association of Washington.

Howard said he will bring a court action to block the referendum from going to a vote of the people Nov. 3, 1964.

"I don't know how the courts could authorize such a move," said Howard who played a major part in drafting the so-called Gambling Tolerance Act passed earlier this year which the referendum was drafted to kill.

Meyers certified the referendum to the ballot on the basis it would have qualified any way.

He noted that 82,955 signatures were turned in in support of the measure—34,325 more than the 48,630 required.

ASK PUBLIC HELP

Meanwhile, a pair of composite photographs showing a thin-faced man with sharp features and a heavy-checked, round-faced man were released by authorities today as they called on the public for help in finding whoever stole the anti-gambling petition.

Law enforcement officials admitted they had little else to go on in their hunt for the thieves who Friday night stole the petition.

The photos, made by Det. Sgt. Herb Arnold from descriptions given by state employees, were to be given wide circulation.

News outlets were asked to carry the photos so as many persons as possible could see them.

Meanwhile, Thurston county under-sheriff Don Redmond also urged the public to report any information persons may have concerning the sacks in which the thieves dragged off 137 volumes containing the 53,300 signature sheets. The load weighed an estimated 75 pounds.

Redmond, who said "we have absolutely no clues," said the bags may have been flour sacks or pillow cases taken from a motel.

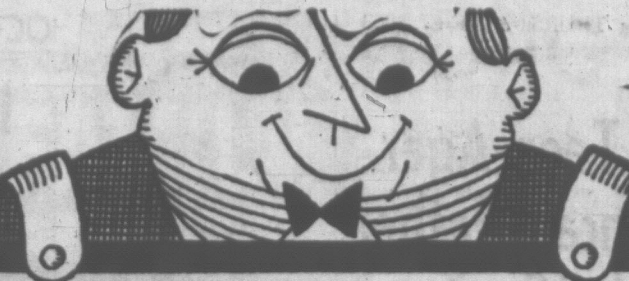

Safety Award

Recognizing outstanding record of one million man hours without a lost time accident, employees of the Victoria gas department, B.C. Hydro and Power Authority, have been awarded the Certificate of Achievement in Industrial Accident Prevention by the Workmen's Compensation Board.

Best accident-free record, set by B.C. Hydro and its predecessors B.C. Electric and B.C. Power Commission, covers a period of over ten and one-half years.

Procuring Teen-Ager Brings Duncan Father 15-Month Jail Sentence

DUNCAN—A city man was sentenced to 15 months Wednesday for procuring a teenage girl to become a prostitute.

Cary H. Elliott, 22, had earlier entered a guilty plea to contributing to juvenile delinquency by procuring. He was sentenced to nine months definite and six months indeterminate at Oakalla young offender's unit.

His counsel asked the court to show consideration because the accused is father of two children and his wife expected a third.

Counsel also argued that the juvenile, a 17-year-old, is a "known common prostitute," and asked for a fine rather than a jail term.

Magistrate D. K. McAdam said the accused had contributed to delinquency in a material way and had taken advantage of the girl.

The accused has a criminal record including convictions for assault and burglary.

DUNCAN—A course aimed at helping students get summer work may not be given this year for lack of interest.

Harold B. Whitfield, acting manager of National Employment Service local branch, said a minimum 20 applications must be received within the week.

The two-week course for waitresses was to be given jointly by NES, department of education and Cowichan Summer School.

DUNCAN—RCMP are investigating a break-in at the Totem

Fountain Lunch, Jubilee Street, which occurred Tuesday night or early Wednesday morning. The thieves escaped with $100 worth of stock and cash.

GANGES—A third referendum on spending money for school additions and teacherage at Salt Spring Island School may be tried following the second rejection last week.

Owner-electors from the Gulf Islands voted only 53.6 per cent in favor of spending $179,246 for a new gymnasium, auditorium and teacher quarters at Ganges.

Approval by 60 per cent of the voters was needed to endorse the plans.

The vote in favor on Salt Spring Island itself was 63.9 per cent of the total 906 votes cast.

The board will consider whether to put the question again "in the near future."

J. B. WILKINSON ... transfers

Principal Quitting Island

Principal of Milnes Landing Junior-Senior High School for 17 years, J. B. Wilkinson, is leaving to continue his teaching career on the Mainland.

His post will be filled by assistant principal Joseph Jupp, industrial arts teacher at the school, where he has taught for 10 years. G. L. Seens will replace him.

Mr. Wilkinson, whose specialty is math and sciences, went to the Sooke district in 1946 when the district high school was projected. He goes now to Langley.

He was in charge of the Milnes Landing school for two years, during which he also was responsible for secondary pupils in the Langford area — first at Albert Head, then at Belmont.

Two separate schools were set up in 1948.

LIVED IN DUNCAN

A resident of Duncan in his youth, John Bowman Wilkinson received his early education in England, graduated from Queen's University at Kingston, then took his bachelor's and master's degrees at University of B.C.

During the Second World War he served with the meteorological service.

He is married and has two teen-aged children who anticipate going to UBC.

At the school's formal graduation exercises Wednesday night, Mr. Wilkinson was given presentations from the school board, teaching staff and students, and his wife was presented with a bouquet of flowers.

CHEMAINUS—One man is in hospital following a collision Wednesday between a Vancouver Island Coach Lines bus and a car at Mill Street and the Chemainus Highway.

In Chemainus General Hospital in good condition is the driver of the car, S. A. Bricker of Chemainus.

OCCUPATION TO LAST A WEEK

Nanaimo Invasion by Irish Set Saturday

NANAIMO—The city will be invaded from the mainland next weekend when the Irish Fusiliers of Canada, Vancouver Regiment, move in to occupy Nanaimo Military Camp.

Zero hour is just before mid-day Saturday, June 29, when the Vancouver militia regiment disembarks from RCN landing craft and advances on their summer camp rendezvous.

Once in occupation, they join units of 25 Militia Group (Vancouver Island) for a week of manoeuvres and training. On Saturday, July 6, they will simulate a national survival re-entry of Victoria, which has been designated a devastated area for the occasion.

Lieut. Colonel John T. McCammon, officer commanding Irish Fusiliers, expects more than 150 officers and men from Vancouver as well as members of the regiment's companies in Prince Rupert and Prince George will be visiting Vancouver Island for the summer exercise.

Colonel McCammon said the training program stresses national survival and unit training in the fields and classroom. Rifle-range practice and mock battles will keep militiamen on their toes from 7 a.m. to 5.30 p.m., Colonel McCammon said.

Mid-way through the camp exercises, the Irish Fusiliers will mix business with pleasure when they sleep out at Nanose Bay near Nanaimo for pipes and drums sounding the retreat.

Each night at sundown, the colorful and traditional "re-treat" ceremony will be performed by the Irish Fusiliers accompanied by the regiment's

Government to Buy Uranium Production

OTTAWA (CP)—The government announced late Wednesday it will buy and stockpile enough uranium to keep three Ontario uranium mines operating with present employment until July 1, 1964.

Prime Minister Pearson said in a statement the three mines could continue to operate economically but, under present contracts, would close between next month and the end of the winter.

Scientists have observed that a bullfrog, when surrounded by immobile insects, will starve rather than strike at a still target.

MORE TRIPS TO MAINLAND

The Nanaimo-Horseshoe Bay run of the British Columbia Ferry Authority has been re-scheduled to every 90 minutes, effective Monday morning.

Service at present is every two hours.

The system will continue the same number of round trips each day—12 beginning at 6.30 a.m. from Nanaimo and 7.15 a.m. from Horseshoe Bay. This gives later sailings from both terminals.

The last trips will be at 11:00 p.m. from Nanaimo and 11:45 p.m. from Horseshoe Bay.

Hal Malone LOOKS AT SPORTS

There are many ways to walk the road of life. Some throw stones. Others catch them. Some walk so straight they wear kinks in their necks. Others sway with every breeze. Fred "Stuffy" McGinnis, buried Saturday, subscribed to his own theory: "You only walk down the road once so you might as well smell the flowers along the way."

Tears, a man once said, are not for the dying nor for the dead. The time to cry is when a baby is born. Then all the tears should be of happiness.

"Stuffy walked the road," Keith Dorman was saying. "Both sides of it. He made a million friends, had a million laughs. He loved to live and where IAA was concerned you could say he lived to love."

A bulging file in the newspaper morgue reveals in worn clippings the exploits of Stuffy McGinnis.

A scrappy, give-it-hell catcher... founder of the Independent Athletic Association... caretaker, house-mother, schedule-maker for the IAA's 700 athletic members...

Dorman knows all this and more. He is urbane and fiftyish, affluent and articulate, the proprietor of a successful men's clothing business.

Except for age ("Stuffy had 10-12 years more wear on him"), Dorman and Fred McGinnis were as opposite as John the Good and John the Profumo. Yet few men were closer, held one another in greater respect or with more sincere affection.

His Strength Greater Than Weakness

"He used to come into my father's store," Dorman remembers. "Oswald, he would say, 'Put up your dukes. I'm going to knock you're block off.' My dad would laugh and say, 'You and what army, Irishman?'"

There were stories, mostly true, of Stuffy McGinnis' fondness for the grape. Once in a while Stuffy would get the fat of his lips on the jug and give it a ride. Like a tired giraffe, though, there's been some stretching of the truth.

"This wasn't a fellow who walked around with a jug on his hip," Dorman said.

"Stuffy would go weeks, months without a touch. He would save up a thousand dollars or so and then take off. But never alone. He'd hire a cab, gather all his friends, and sail for Vancouver. Cab, friends and all. When the money ended, the party ended."

Eight years ago the party almost ended forever. Stuffy never made it home. The hospital phoned. "Come on down," they said. "This time he may not make it."

Stuffy walked the line for two days. Then he rallied and bounced back, like a cocky catcher should.

"From that day to the day he died," Keith Dorman said, "Stuffy never held a bottle in his hands. Maybe the growing pains the IAA went through were responsible. Maybe he realized he was running out of tomorrows. Maybe a little of both."

"The thing that was significant to me was not his drinking but his strength in not drinking."

He Always Bit His Tongue Afterwards

To get what he wanted for his legion of IAA teams, Stuffy wrangled and fought with aldermen, with arena managers, with school board officials for grounds and rinks and playing time.

He was quite a sight, stubby and bandy-legged, running from one diamond to another at Macdonald Park, supervising four simultaneous IAA softball games.

Not infrequently he would get a sudden inspiration on his daily visits to Dorman's store and buttonhole the proprietor. "The place could be jammed with customers," Keith Dorman says, "and he would want me to stop and listen to him. I'd try to put him off politely while measuring somebody for a pair of pants and he'd demand that I stop and talk to him."

"Finally I would say, 'all right, Stuffy, let's go up to my office—for five minutes.'"

"Upstairs he would act hurt. I'd say, 'Knock it off—what's on your mind?' Then he would apologize for interrupting and tell me of some new idea he had for IAA. Usually we would work it out and shake hands. Then he would start apologizing all over again."

"He was the shortest-tempered Irishman I ever met. But he always bit his tongue afterwards..."

Nothing Special But Very Appropriate

On the ledger beside Stuffy McGinnis' name, Jack Neilson would add fairness. Neilson is one of the old IAA guard, a McGinnis man from here to breakfast.

"If he thought somebody was trying to pull something to favor one group over another," Neilson says, "he'd scream and barge ahead with his own convictions. He didn't try to be popular; he wanted everybody to get an even break. And if he was wrong, no alibis. He was the first to admit it."

The Ryan brothers, Pee Wee Jim and Tiny Don, some 450 pounds of camera kids, knew Stuffy McGinnis as a wiry, warm individual, apt with the needle.

"We'd take pictures for IAA," Don Ryan says, "and Stuffy would want them printed right away. We'd be going hairy with work and tell him so. But all he would say was, 'That's fine. Take your time. I'll be back in an hour.'"

Last week, before Stuffy's funeral, other people "went hairy." The Ryans wanted a wreath. Nothing special, you understand. Just a wreath made in the form of a baseball and bat.

Florists get all kinds of oddball requests and weren't fussy. But the Ryans persisted and the wreath arrived just on time... an appropriate parting shot for a little catcher.

DERBY CORNER

Tony Rosin, 12-year member of the Victoria-Saanich Inlet Anglers' Association, can look at the Handicapped Children's Salmon Derby from both sides of the fence.

When the Island's big derby is run off July 27 and 28, Tony can step out and enjoy himself as "one of the regulars." Holder of five VSIAA buttons, he has been a consistent prizewinner since 1955.

He also can tell you, in detail, just what this derby means to ailing youngsters. One of his own children had been a patient at the Queen Alexandra Solarium.

That's why Tony puts in extra effort—and even his holiday time—into seeing that the derby is a whopping success.

This qualified angler will be happy to tell you how to fish the Inlet during the derby. He'll be equally happy to sell you a ticket, too. Call him at 478-3470 for tickets or information.

Mick Getting Better

NEW YORK (AP) — New York Yankee star Mickey Mantle, sidelined since June 5, had the cast removed from his fractured left foot Wednesday and probably will be ready to play again July 11.

No nickname could be more appropriate for a fellow who takes the world in stride. He's played in at least 144 games in every year he's been with the Dodgers since 1953 and yet every spring it seems he has to win his job all over again from some highly-touted newcomer.

Comes the middle of a hot pennant race, however, and Gilliam is not only in the line-up day in and day out but also delivers the clutch hits that win important games. The kids who thought they had him beat out of a job in the spring read about him in the newspapers of minor league towns.

FOUR IN ROW

The National League pennant race is about as hot as it can get and so it's no surprise that Gilliam is red-hot. The Dodgers have won four straight games and Gilliam has delivered the game-winning blow in three of 'em, including Wednesday night when his two-run eighth-inning double sparked Los Angeles to a 5-2 victory over Cincinnati Reds. The victory completed a Dodger sweep of a three-game series—the first time they won three in a row in Cincinnati since 1953.

Left-handed relief ace Ron Perranoski shut out the Reds for the last 2 1/2 innings to win his eighth game against two losses. Jim Maloney, seeking his 12th win, struck out 11 batters and went into the eighth inning with a 2-2 tie, but a walk to Perranoski and Gordie Coleman's wild throw on a sacrifice attempt set the stage for Gilliam's big blow.

YANKS PROTECT LEAD

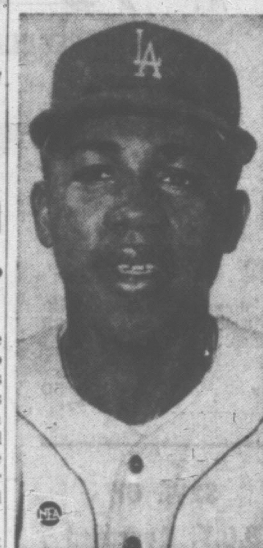

The victory enabled the Dodgers to remain a half-game behind the first-place St. Louis Cardinals, who topped San Francisco Giants, 6-5. Houston Colts beat Milwaukee Braves, 7-2, in 13 innings, Philadelphia Phillies downed Pittsburgh Pirates, 6-2, and New York Mets defeated Chicago Cubs, 8-6, in other NL games.

In the American League New York Yankees protected their slim grip on first place by nudging Chicago White Sox 3-2 on home runs by Tom Tresh and Roger Maris.

In other AL games, third-place Boston Red Sox edged Cleveland Indians 6-5; Minnesota Twins walloped Detroit Tigers 6-1, and Los Angeles dumped Baltimore twice, 3-1 and 3-2.

A FELLA'S NEVER TOO OLD FOR THE OLYMPICS

TOKYO (Reuters)—An 84-year-old Japanese walker, Kanichi Fujita, wants to compete in the 1964 Olympic Games in Tokyo.

Fujita has applied to take part in a "special section" for aged athletes which he says should be established, according to the Asahi Shimbun, a Japanese national daily newspaper.

Fujita said he could compete in walking with young athletes. He claimed a 71-year-old man walked one mile in seven minutes 55 seconds in a special event in San Francisco.

Palmer Familiar With Beechmont

CLEVELAND (AP) — Arnold Palmer, golf's big money winner, had a little extra going for him today as he drew a bead on the $22,000 top prize in the 72-hole $110,000 Cleveland Open. Palmer was favored as 146 professionals and four amateurs teed off in the year's top money event at Beechmont Country Club's 6,618-yard layout.

Back in the early '50s, when he won two Ohio amateur championships, Palmer was stationed here as a coast guardman. He knows Beechmont as well as his home course at Latrobe, Pa. Cured of the stomach ailment which bothered him in last week's National Open playoff, in which he finished third, Palmer had a four-under-par 67 in Wednesday's pro-amateur $10,000 preliminary.

TIE FOR TOP

But Masters champion Jack Nicklaus and Mason Rudolph tied for the top with 65. Doug Ford was next with 66.

A trio of amateurs joined each of 36 professionals for the preliminary test, and Nicklaus was the big money winner with $1,000. He and Rudolph received $900 each for their 65s, and Jack's foursome finished in a tie for fifth for another $100.

Mike Souchak won $500. Gary Player $310, Rudolph $900.

'Wish She'd Buy Me a Ball Club'

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Reports that Bo Belinsky has decided to report to Los Angeles Angels' farm club in Hawaii came as a surprise to Angel general manager Fred Haney.

"Belinsky hasn't been in touch with us," said Haney. The southpaw must get permission from Los Angeles to play with any professional club.

Belinsky was suspended by the Angels when he refused to report May 24 to Honolulu after posting a disappointing 1-7 record.

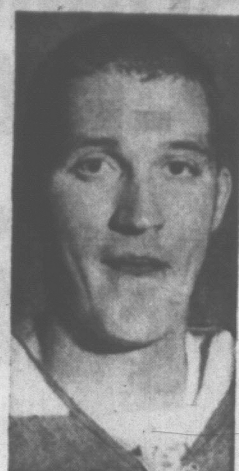

He showed up at Tuesday night's game against Baltimore Orioles with Mrs. Ricky duPont, widow of Francis duPont, and indicated he wanted to get back in baseball.

Mrs. duPont is the widow of the man who designed, financed and built the Delaware River bridge between Camden, N.J., and Philadelphia.

Belinsky said he and Mrs. duPont are thinking of opening a night club, but she said she would be a "silent partner—very silent."

"Bo is a thorough gentleman," Mrs. duPont told reporters. "He belongs in baseball, but he should have something else as well."

"I wish Mrs. duPont would buy me a ball club, rather than a night club," said Belinsky. "I'd like to be a playing general manager."

McKinley Advances Easily

WIMBLEDON, Eng. (CP) — Fourth-seeded Chuck McKinley of the United States defeated fellow American Arthur Ashe, the first male Negro to play at Wimbledon, 6-3, 6-3, 6-2 in the third round of the men's singles at the all-England lawn tennis championships today.

A crowd estimated at 24,000 turned out as the sun shone for the first time since the tournament got under way Monday.

It took Rhodesian Davis Cup player Adrian Pan 12 minutes today to complete a second-round win over American Herb Flam.

Byron won 6-1, 13-11, 2-6, 4-6, 12-10 in a match which had been halted by bad light Wednesday night with the score 8-8 in the fifth set.

EMERSON MOVES ALONG

Roy Emerson of Australia, the No. 1 seed, defeated Italy's Orlando Sirola 8-6, 7-5, 6-2 Wednesday to proceed into the third round.

Ken Fletcher, seeded No. 3, was beaten by fellow-Australian Fred Stolle 7-5, 9-7, 13-15, 6-0, in the big upset of the day and Pierre Darmin of France, No. 6, was defeated by Aussie Bob Howe, 3-6, 1-6, 6-3, 6-4, 6-3, Mike Sangster of England, the No. 8 seed, had lost Monday.

HARD FIGHT

Osamu Ishiguro, Japan's No. 1 player, had an unexpectedly hard fight in a second-round match against Keith Carpenter, 20, of Montreal before winning 6-2, 3-6, 6-3, 17-15.

Fourth-seeded McKinley, polished off Alan Lane of Australia 7-5, 6-4, 8-6 for a third-round berth.

In the first round of the women's singles, Darlene Hard of the United States defeated Britain's J. A. Fulton 6-0, 6-0 and went on to take a second-round victory over Britain's Caroline Gates-Bell, 6-2, 6-1. Miss Hard is seeded fourth.

An irate Walter Spaven, president of Cedar Hill Golf Club, is up-in-arms over what he terms "discrimination" by Victoria Golf Club.

Spaven's charges stem from an incident June 13 when Sid Petch, a member of the Cedar Hill club, was refused permission to play the Oak Bay course.

Petch, accompanied by three Colwood members, was refused a green fee ticket, says Spaven, "on the grounds that Victoria club does not recognize Cedar Hill as a local club."

Spaven said he wrote the club on June 17 for an explanation. Monday, he received a letter from the Victoria Club's secretary which said, in part:

"The following is the club rule which is applicable to this instance: A resident of Victoria not being a member of any local club may play twice in any one month only when introduced by and playing with a member. According to our interpretation, Royal Colwood, Gorge and Uplands are recognized as local clubs. Your letter will, however, be placed before the general committee at its next meeting."

'Discrimination' — and It Hurts!

"If they have a bona fide reason to discriminate against Cedar Hill, I'd like to know what it is. That's exactly what this is, and it hurts."

"Cedar Hill is a member of the Victoria and District Committee, the RCGA and the B.C. Golf Association."

"I dislike making an issue of this, but our golfers have a right to know why they are being expelled by the Victoria Golf Club."

A member of the Victoria Club committee acknowledged the fact that, "as our bylaws read," the Oak Bay course recognizes only Uplands, Colwood and Gorge Vale.

"This harks back to the days when Cedar Hill was strictly a public course — without a membership," the spokesman added.

"Mr. Spaven's letter arrived the day after our last committee meeting. It will be brought up at the next meeting, in mid-July."

Means of Protecting Club Member

The Oak Bay member, speaking unofficially, added that the "incident" was sparked by a clamp-down on local green-fee players.

(Local non-members are limited to so many games, a rule that is in vogue at almost every club in North America. The limit is a means of protecting the club member who pays an initiation fee, dues and green fees. A once-a-week green-fee player puts practically nothing into the club and can actually golf cheaper than a club member if given the chance.)

"Local players have been abusing privileges. The office was told to clamp down."

"More important, you must remember that our course doesn't recover very well. Take a divot at Uplands or Colwood and in no time at all, the fairway is as good as over."

"Our course is different. We have to water very hard. Even then, it takes the course a long time to recover."

Let's Not Forget It's Private

One mustn't forget that Victoria Golf Club is a private club, and what they do is their business. However, for the amount of golfers it affects, it does seem strange that Oak Bay hasn't got around to acknowledging Cedar Hill's presence.

"You can count on one hand," says Mr. Spaven, "the number of Cedar Hill members who play at Oak Bay apart from city tournaments."

Gayle Hitchens, the B.C. and Canadian Open champion, will lead the provincial women's team to the Canadian championships at Hull, Que., July 11.

Also named to the team after trials in Victoria last weekend are Ruth Wilson, Barbara Renwick and Colleen Smith. All are from Vancouver.

Only one Victorian-Uplands' Maureen Hibbertson campaigned for a berth on the interprovincial team. Maureen entered "just for experience" but came mighty close to picking off that fourth spot.

B.C.'s junior delegation consists of Marilyn Palmer of Kamloops and Mary-Lee Ward of Vancouver.

Uplands Golfers Defeat Gorge — By Half a Point

Final standings in the Inter-club Golf League could not have been any closer Wednesday and still have decided a winner.

Uplands Golf Club finished the six-match round-robin series with the narrowest win in the league's five year history.

Uplands defeated defending champion Victoria Golf Club 6-3 in the final match to squeeze by second place Gorge Vale by one-half point in the final standings.

Gorge Vale, one point behind Uplands after last week's competition, downed Colwood 6½-2½ at Colwood.

They were able to make up one-half of the one-point margin, but the other half-point was good enough to give Uplands their first inter-club championship.

Victoria took third spot in the standings, with Royal Colwood fourth.

It could have been a different story for Uplands if it had not been for Eric Wright. Pro Roy Chappel of Victoria had put his second putt within inches of the hole on the 18th. Wright was lying two, on the front of the green. He sunk the 30-foot putt, giving Uplands four-ball, one up.

Gorge Vale's Al MacLeod and Bill Wakeham made a gallant effort to build up enough points to beat Uplands. They both shot medal 69s winning their singles matches over Joe Evans and Laurie Kerr.

Complete results:

Gorge Vale 6½ at Colwood 2½
Bill Wakeham defeated Laurie Kerr, 3 and 2; Al MacLeod defeated Joe Evans, 2 and 1; Gorge won four-ball, 3 and 2.
Art Donaldson defeated Vic Painter, 2 and 1; Dave Ewart lost to Fred Painter, 1 up; Gorge won four-ball, 3 up.
Dave Fanthorpe defeated Roger Ross, 3 and 2; Vince Wheatley lost to Mike Kolb, 2 and 1. Four-ball halved.

Victoria 3 at Uplands 6
Bill McCall defeated Gordon Pelton, 3 and 2; Roy Chappel lost to Eric Wright, 2 and 1; Uplands won four-ball, 1 up.
Laurie Carroll lost to Frank Scroggs, 2 and 1; Gorge Biglow defeated Eric Hibbertson, 2 and 1; Victoria won four-ball, 2 and 1.
Cliff Horwood lost to Gary Smith, 3 and 1; Doug Munro lost to Bob Hunt, 5 and 4; Uplands won four-ball, 5 and 4.

FINAL STANDINGS
Uplands 33½
Gorge Vale 25
Victoria 23
Royal Colwood 16½

MILLION DOLLAR MURDER

T. Eugene Thompson, 35, St. Paul, Minn. attorney, has been arrested for questioning in connection with the March 6 slaying of his wife, Carol, 34-year-old mother of four, who had been insured for over a million dollars. Police seek the mastermind behind the "murder for hire" killing.

Big Surplus Of Wheat Indicated

WINNIPEG (CP) — Grain officials say Canada will likely have twice as much wheat on hand as it can sell in the next crop year starting Aug. 1.

Total stocks may surpass 1,000,000,000 bushels following the autumn harvest if Prairie bumper crop predictions come true.

Even by optimistic standards Canada could sell only about half this total in the 1963-64 crop year.

Exports would take a top of 350,000,000 bushels and domestic sales 150,000,000 for a maximum disappearance of 500,000,000.

PREDICT EXPORT DROP

The Canadian wheat board estimates total exports will hit 325,000,000 by the end of the current crop year, off nine per cent from last year.

Domestic consumption of 150,000,000 bushels should bring the total disappearance by July 31 to 475,000,000.

Subtracting the disappearance figure from available supplies of 954,000,000 bushels leaves a 479,000,000-bushel wheat carry-over into the 1963-64 crop year.

Although 84,000,000 bushels higher than last year's carry-over, the total is far short of the usual figure. Last year's was made smaller by the 1961 Prairie drought.

Meanwhile officials agree with Agriculture Minister Harry Hays that a 700,000,000-bushel wheat crop may be in the offing in the fall of this year.

Duty-Free Goods Row Belittled By Participating Merchant Here

Complaints over merchants offering duty-free goods to tourists are a "tempest in a teapot," according to Robert Thompson, who sparked the movement in Victoria.

Mr. Thompson, vice-president and managing director of W. and J. Wilson Ltd., said that while the amount of merchandise sold through the duty-free section of shops was only a small part of the business it was a necessary service.

It was brought about by the opening of large operations throughout Canada operating solely in the duty-free shopping field.

So far two other stores in the Victoria area — Victoria Photo Supply and Tudor China Shop in Sidney — offer duty-free facilities to tourists.

A Victoria clothing store, the Piccadilly Shoppe Ltd., is entering the business soon, and even Butchart Gardens is reported considering setting up a duty-free shop.

SIDNEY WAS FIRST

International Duty Free Store at Sidney, a bonded warehouse which mails purchases directly to the homes of tourist customers, was the first to open the duty-free shopping field in the area.

Its opening was fought bitterly by Victoria Chamber of Commerce with Mr. Thompson one of the leaders in the fight.

However, Mr. Thompson says that after the Sidney store opening it was a case of "if you can't beat them, join them."

CALLED A GIMMICK

Among merchants in Victoria who said they were not interested in joining in the duty-free scheme and could see few benefits from it for either customers or stores was Courtney Haddock, manager of Courtward Stores Ltd. here.

Mr. Haddock said he could see no threat to merchants and thought it was a "gimmick" which would run its course.

Mr. Haddock said his store for years had been saving money for bona fide customers from outside of Canada through remission of import duties and luxury tax on foreign goods shipped to the customers' homes.

Veterans' Group Official Fined For Ticket Sale

WINNIPEG (CP) — The secretary of the Army, Navy and Air Force Veterans in Canada, Fort Garry Unit, Wednesday was fined $2,000 and costs or six months in jail after pleading guilty to a charge of disposing of lottery tickets.

Edward Carter was arrested May 21 after police seized 2,256 lottery ticket receipts from his car.

Police said Carter admitted disposing of 731 books of lottery tickets from Quebec's ANAF sweepstakes and making a profit of between $1 and $2 on each book he sold.

course with us," Mr. Haddock said, "although we know some other stores haven't bothered and have just pocketed the difference."

Jeweler Hugh Francis, secretary of F. W. Francis Ltd., said his firm wouldn't be interested in a duty-free operation because, for one thing, "it antagonizes local customers."

Local people resent the idea that tourist customers are getting bargains which they can't get, he said.

Greatest uproar over duty-free shopping is in Banff where Mr. Thompson operates a W. and J. Wilson store in the Banff Springs Hotel and has opened a separate duty-free section.

A NATIONAL PROBLEM?

Banff Chamber of Commerce president Claude Brewster said duty-free shops were becoming a national problem and should be curbed.

The federal government, and through it the Canadian cit-zens, were losing revenue not only on duty but also on the federal sales tax.

The Banff group is considering preparing a brief on the subject for presentation to federal authorities.

Matinee MUSICAL CHARADES

A NEW RADIO QUIZ GAME WITH JACKPOT PRIZES OF $1,000 AND UP, UP, UP!

Yes, it's the "Charades" you've had fun with at parties—and now Matinée Cigarettes brings you a fascinating musical version on radio that pays off in big cash prizes, exciting entertainment!

HERE'S HOW IT WORKS:

Each day, 4 times a day, a musical clue is given which—when put together with other daily clues—makes up a charade. It could be a "song title", "nursery rhyme", or "proverb". When you think you know the charade, send your answer—along with the outside portion of a Matinée Cigarette package—to: "Musical Charades", P.O. Box 4028, Terminal "A", Toronto, Ontario.

Each letter drawn is worth at least $5.00—plus another $5.00 for each package enclosure. A correct answer—with Matinée package shell enclosed—wins $1,000 if your letter is drawn. If there is no winner the first Jackpot Day, the jackpot is increased by $100.00 each day until a winner is declared. (A correct answer with no package shell enclosed still wins $50.00).

Pope Paul Sacrificed Princehood

By JAMES M. LONG
Second of Series

VATICAN CITY (AP)—Pope Paul VI has pledged himself to follow the path of progress pioneered by Pope John XXIII. He embarks with administrative experience and important pastoral preparation given him by the more conservative Pope Pius XII.

Pius became Pope after a career in the Vatican secretariat of state. But Pius had understood the value of the rich human contacts and deep personal satisfactions of the pastoral experience which he never had.

Pius first gave Giovanni Battista Montini a broad outlook on the world from the Vatican's office of secretary of state and then sent him to Milan as archbishop in Italy's industrial Red belt.

It cost Pope Pius his right-hand man in church administration. But it gave Archbishop Montini eight rich years of pastoral experience that rounded out his preparation to become Pope Paul VI.

There were paradoxes in his career. One was that he declined the red hat of cardinal just 10 years before he was elected Pope.

UNSWERVING LOYALTY

But there was the underlying consistency of loyalty, in his devoted service to Pope Pius, and his dedicated support of Pope John's program of progress.

When he moved into the papal apartment of the Apostolic Palace after election last Friday it was almost like coming home for the veteran Vatican statesman. For almost half his life Pope Paul's office and his home had been in the Vatican secretariat of state, since 1924, soon after returning from his first diplomatic assignment as secretary to the apostolic nuncio in Warsaw. He was then 27.

His rise was steady, first under Pope Pius XI and then under Pius XII.

In 1937 he became substitute secretary of state. Pope Pius XII promoted him in November of 1952 to pro-secretary of state, an office in which he was the Pope's right-hand man in church administration.

It was a year later, in the consistory of 1953, that Pope Pius announced he had asked Archbishop Montini to accept the red hat of cardinal. The pope said Montini refused "from his sense of duty," preferring to serve the Pope in his office in the secretariat of state.

SENT TO MILAN

It was a sacrifice of princehood rarely disclosed in the modern history of the Roman Catholic Church. Pius obviously was deeply moved. A year later, in 1954, the Pope sent Montini north to Milan, as archbishop of the most important diocese in Italy outside Rome.

History may record it as an act of destiny. But at the time Archbishop Montini wept.

"Oggi Sono rimasto orfano," The newly-appointed archbishop said sorrowfully — "Today I have become an orphan."

Yet on Epiphany Day of early January, 1955, when the new Archbishop of Milan drove into his diocese, for the first time a pastor, he had already dedicated himself to his new duties.

He had gone to meet his challenge there in the Red belt. But his first words were those of prayer, of affection, of hope.

"Pray," he urged the people gently.

"Pray as I pray—that the vibration of machinery shall become as music, and the fumes of the smokestacks shall become as incense."

FIGHTS COMMUNISM

Then, with the intensity with which he always plunged into new endeavor, he went to work to make it so.

He sent out a call for priests and rounded up nearly 1,300 of them from all over Italy. He sent them out to the industrial suburbs of the city to carry the message of the church into the strongholds of communism.

And he went out there himself. The Archbishop of Milan put on a miner's helmet and went down into the pits. He went to the factories. And he went out to face the Communists in their own Red fortress, the suburb of Sesto San Giovanni.

They were lined up in the workshops there in oil-stained blue overalls. Many eyed the slight, ascetic-looking archbishop defiantly.

STRAIGHT TALK

He hit out straight from the shoulder:

"Let it not be said that religion is an opium which seeks to dull in men their drive for progress and better life. To the contrary, religion is the light, the glory and the force behind this hope."

This was one of the first of many of his dramatic speeches on social justice.

He did not stop at visiting the workers in their plants and at their assembly lines. He went to their wives and their children in humble homes.

When Archbishop Montini went to Milan he brought all his worldly goods in three suitcases and sent his beloved books ahead of him in wooden crates. When he came back to Rome he still had the books, the three suitcases of meagre personal belongings—and eight years of the close personal pastoral relations that a pope would need in the new age of man.

IN 29 PARKS

Playground Fun Starts Tuesday

Thousands of youngsters will flock to the municipal parks in the Victoria, Saanich, Oak Bay and Esquimalt areas next week to join in summer recreational programs.

Of the total 29 parks in the Greater Victoria area 18 are located in Saanich, but the city, which saw over 44,000 youngsters on the grounds last year, has the largest program.

The Esquimalt program is the first for many years and is being run on a trial basis. Oak Bay, which in the past has operated a program in several parks, is restricting this year's program to Carnarvon Park with emphasis on supervised play.

Both Saanich and Victoria are offering swimming lessons and the city will provide tennis instruction.

Starting July 2 in Victoria, Oaklands, Banfield, Topaz, Hollywood, Stadacona, Macdonald and Redfern Parks will be open 1 p.m. to 4:30 p.m., Monday to Friday and Central and Beacon Hill Parks, 10:30 a.m. to 4:30 p.m.

On July 9 starting at 9 a.m. swimming lessons will be given at the Crystal Garden on Tuesdays for boys and Fridays for girls. Tennis instruction will be given on Mondays at Central Park and Wednesdays at Stadacona Park starting at 2 p.m., July 8.

General program will include handicrafts, hobbies, inter-park competition in softball, volleyball and horse shoe pitching. Each park will have a library.

In Saanich the recreation program starts July 4 in Allenby, Braefoot, Broadmead, Reynolds, Playfair, Tolmie, Rudd, Rosedale, Marigold, Hampton, Prospect Lake, Majestic, Maynard, Rainbow, Meadow and Qu'Appelle Parks and Cordova Bay and Royal Oak Schools from 10 a.m. to 3 p.m. Mondays and Thursdays there will be swimming classes 9 a.m. to 11:30 a.m. in the Crystal Garden.

Inter-park sports competitions, mosaics, pottery, metal crafts and other handicrafts have been organized for the summer and materials will be supplied.

Trips have been planned to Provincial Museum and several industries. Handicrafts will be displayed on August 2 in Town and Country shopping centre.

Carnarvon Park in Oak Bay will open July 2. There will be supervised play Mondays to Fridays, 10 a.m. to 4 p.m. Playing area of the park, which includes a new wading pool, has been enlarged. If the program is successful it will be extended to other Oak Bay parks.

Pilot project in Bullen Park, Esquimalt starts July 2. Mondays to Fridays, 1 p.m. to 4:30 p.m. there will be supervised sports and instructions in handicrafts including wood-working, paper work and soap carving.

Tuesday and Thursday evenings from 6 to 8 p.m. the YMCA gymnastic team will give demonstrations and tuition to children nine years and older. Registration for programs should be made at parks on opening day.

FIRE FAILS TO DAUNT EAGER PERSONNEL Ill-Fated Circus Ship Finally Gives Up

YARMOUTH, N.S. (UPI)—A recently converted American circus ship operating out of St. Petersburg, Fla., climaxed a series of jinxes when she burned and sank in Yarmouth harbor, Wednesday.

The Ss Fleuris, registered by McCormick Shipping Corporation of Panama, was owned and operated by the Oklahoma-based Al Kelly and Miller Brothers circus.

The circus, recently formed, purchased the 1926-built Fleuris, a converted gulf coast freighter, at Jacksonville, Fla. The old 195-foot iron ship had been idle four years.

The circus was planning to tour the Canadian Atlantic coast ports.

A disabled engine in mid-Atlantic caused her to spend six days adrift. Combined with an unscheduled stop in Maine the circus actually arrived months late at Yarmouth.

She came into port with a list which increased during loading operations after Monday's two performances, the first the circus had performed here.

Fire broke out in the engine room. Firemen battling the blaze that quickly gutted the ship said it was caused by a bursting fuel line catching fire. The large amounts of water pumped on the blaze may have caused it to list more, eventually contributing to its sinking, fire officials said. Damage was estimated at $200,000.

As the ship burned, every effort was made to save the animals. A local construction firm, Kenny Company, provided cranes to lift the animals in their cages out of the doomed vessel. A Brahma bull and two horses were shoved overboard when fire threatened them. They were able to swim ashore.

Barkerville Footlights Shine Again

BARKERVILLE (CP)—Some 250 persons packed a rustic building here Wednesday night as the Theatre Royal opened the 1963 season with a flourish in this historic mining community.

The old-time show featured is a fast-moving stage presentation with a cast including Fran Dowie, Candy Kene, Fred Bass, Sid Williams, Peter Manning, Tom Hawken, Stan Luvan and some hurdy-gurdy girls.

The show will be performed twice daily during the summer as a tourist attraction in the old town, restored by the provincial government as a historical site.

Official opening ceremonies were performed by Miss Lottie Bowron, who was born here in the 1890s. Miss Bowron, daughter of the first gold commissioner in Barkerville, was at one time secretary to Premier Sir Richard McBride. She now resides in Victoria.

L. J. Wallace, deputy provincial secretary, acting on behalf of Premier Bennett, presented a large leather-bound bible for the town's recently restored St. Saviour's Church.

Joint Probe Proposed On Credit

OTTAWA (CP)—A special committee of the Commons and the Senate will be established to investigate federal law governing consumer credit.

Notice of a motion to set up the committee was given in the Commons order paper by State Secretary Pickersgill.

It will have 24 Commons members and the Senate is being invited to nominate members of the upper chamber to sit with them.

It is to report on the problem of consumer credit and particularly to investigate the application of federal law in the field.

There are nine bills before the Commons sponsored by back-bench MPs suggesting ways to limit excessive interest charges on consumer credit.

Bank Robbers Claim Try To Ruin FLQ

COOKSVILLE, Ont. (CP)—Two American bank robbers said in court Wednesday they came to Canada to infiltrate the FLQ and collect reward money by turning terrorists in to police.

Melvin George Brown, 35, of Houston, Tex., and Donald Cotham, 33, of Tacoma, Wash., were each sentenced to 20 years' hard labor after they pleaded guilty to armed robbery and abducting two tellers in a $10,000 bank robbery May 27.

Cotham said they went to British Columbia in an attempt to make contact with a FLQ agent. When they failed, they tried again in Hamilton, but the man turned out to be a phoney.

The bandits were arrested after a nine-mile police chase in which police estimated 50 shots were fired.

Mother, Daughter Die

KELOWNA (CP)—A mother and her teen-aged daughter were fatally injured Wednesday when their car careened off the highway about three miles south of nearby Westbank.

Dead are Mrs. Katherine Bennett, of Summerland, and her daughter, Sandra, 17.

Plan 'Not Medicare'

Robert Strachan, B.C. leader of the New Democratic Party, Wednesday described Alberta's medical health insurance scheme as "not genuine medicare."

Mr. Strachan said in a statement that the plan "still leaves a heavy financial burden on people who can least afford such burdens."

"It does not provide coverage for every citizen and involves heavy administrative costs because of the necessity of a type of means test and the multiplicity of plans."

Triple Vaccine Approved

WASHINGTON (AP)—The government has approved a new short-cut oral polio vaccine designed to give quick simultaneous immunity against all three types of polio.

A licence for the three-in-one vaccine—combining strains of the Sabin oral polio vaccine—was granted to Lederle Laboratories, a spokesman for the U.S. surgeon-general's office said Tuesday night.

In a statement, Lederle said that in addition to reducing the complexity of administering oral polio vaccine, the new product gives "active immunity against all three types of polio after the first feeding, and more complete protection after the second feeding eight weeks later."

The pioneer oral vaccine developed by Dr. Albert Sabin of the University of Cincinnati requires three doses a month apart, each using a different strain of live viruses to combat each type of polio.

The Salk vaccine, using dead virus and injected with a needle is recommended given in three doses—the first and second a month apart, the third seven months later—plus a booster shot after a year.

The company said the three-in-one vaccine is the combination of the work of groups under the direction of Sabin and Dr. Herald R. Cox, Lederle's director of viral research.

The first mass tests of the vaccine were conducted in 1960 in the Miami area where it was administered—usually in a cherry-flavored syrup—to 414,000 persons. Health officials there said paralytic polio cases dropped to zero afterward.

Fish Treaty Settlement Still Far Off

SEATTLE (AP)—Seattle fisheries leaders, back from Washington, say settlement of the North Pacific Fisheries Treaty dispute appears far off.

After attending the 16-day negotiating sessions involving representatives of Japan, Canada and the United States, spokesmen said the most significant result was that Japan did not move to kill the existing treaty. A nation may at any time serve one year's notice on termination.

But the battle lines were drawn more sharply, they agreed. One of the issues is over the "abstention principle," under which nations agree not to deplete fisheries resources of an area.

"We know their problems and they know ours," George Starlund, Washington state director of fisheries, said.

"Nobody backed down from their positions. I think we are going to be talking about this (treaty) for quite some time."

Harold Lokken, manager of the Fishing Vessel Owners' Association here, called the meetings "forceful." He does not expect a quick settlement.

"Nobody budged," Lokken said.

"Japan is pressing for a new treaty. The United States and Canada insist on retaining the present treaty. There will be a second round of meetings in September—and in the meantime, nobody knows what will happen."

VICTORIA, B.C., THURSDAY, JUNE 27, 1963—PAGE 21

Arthur Mayse

The prospect of a nuclear arms dump on our peaceable Island adds nothing to my happiness, especially since I pay taxes on a scrap of cougar pasture up Comox way.

Still, I can see no point in storing those debated warheads anywhere except at the point where we have aircraft to carry them; and one of those locations goes happen to be Comox.

The nuts and the professional screamers, we can disregard. Say "bomb" to these people and you trigger an automatic flurry of nuisance marches, glib slogans on highway-facing rocks, and similar exhibitionist capers. The bomb is with us; and the fact that most of us wish it weren't is not going to make it go away.

There are, however, two statements from sincere and rational Vancouver Islanders which will bear pondering.

Says Opposition Leader Robert Strachan:

"The storage of nuclear weapons on Vancouver Island will make this island an important target area in the event of war, and I am sure our people do not want to be placed in this position."

Listen now to Comox village chairman Ron Ellis: "We've been conditioned to the fact that we might have to have nuclear weapons some day. If the government thinks it's necessary, we're prepared to live with them."

Admittedly, an influx of nuclear arms specialists will bring further economic benefit to a district which owes part of its settled prosperity to the big Comox RCAF station.

Even so, I think most Islanders will agree with Ron Ellis. We don't want those American warheads... we may even yearn for a more innocent day when a fire-bombing with jellied gasoline marked the limit of man's destructive ingenuity... but the clock isn't about to turn itself back.

If Courtenay-Comox people are prepared to live with the hellish things, so too am I. But Mr. Strachan isn't, and gives his reason in forthright terms.

The fact that I can't look on his view as valid in no way diminishes my respect for a veteran legislator who has played conscience to government times beyond number. I wish, though, that Mr. Strachan and the NDP party at large would abandon what strikes me as a head-in-the-sand attitude about these nuclear warheads.

In a future war Vancouver Island might or might not be an important target.

I don't think it would be, even with our Comox and Esquimalt bases. I'm not even sure that all Canada offers more than two, or at most three targets worth an enemy power's attention.

But this is guesswork, and it may be the proposed Comox weapons dump might win us a red pin on an attack map.

This risk we must take. No use to divert the mail dog into somebody else's street. We are not Vancouver Islanders or British Columbians but Canadians, and when confronted with the nightmare potential of nuclear war, should begin to think as such.

If we must have nuclear arms, Mr. Strachan urges in effect, let them be stored in someone else's yard.

If Canadians must be blasted, let them be Vancouverites, or Manitobans, or New Brunswickers.

I can't buy that concept. It's the sectionalism of a house divided; and the fate of such houses is known to all.

In addition, it is unrealistic. It assumes a world where the bully won't hit a kid with glasses on. But we've lost that snug world, and no future war is likely to respect the open city, the undefended island. High megaton overkill makes no allowance for such amenities.

Should such a war materialize, I haven't the least notion how effective in offence or defence our island bases will be. I don't think anyone else knows, either.

But since this weapon we deprecate has perhaps been the main factor in keeping us safe from a shooting war these last few years, I suspect we'd best keep it handy yet a while.

That's why I prefer to go along with the chairman of Comox village.

MARY PANEGOOSHO
... now warm enough to smile.

Eskimo Beauty Opens Native Art Show Here

By NORMAN CRIBBENS

Prettiest editor in Canada is probably 23-year-old Mary Panegoosho, an Eskimo lovely from Arctic Baffin Island.

Editor of the magazine "Eskimo Way," printed in two dialects, she is in Victoria to open The Igloo, an exhibition of Eskimo arts and crafts in the Douglas Room of the Hudson's Bay store. It opens Friday at 3 p.m.

"I have seen Victoria only a few hours and it must be the loveliest city in Canada," smiled Miss Panegoosho.

"Then it is the right place for you," said one of the Hudson's Bay gallants as he escorted the petite raven-haired visitor through The Igloo.

Inlet, Baffin Island, four years ago to join the federal department of Northern Affairs (her publisher) in Ottawa. Still at home are her father — an RCMP officer — her mother, sisters and three brothers.

"My father and my brothers hunt walrus and polar bears," Miss Panegoosho said. "Most of our people are keen hunters. Myself I prefer painting and handicrafts. We have many talented artists and I am happy their work is being shown here."

The visitor revealed that Canada's Eskimos are leaving the igloo way of life, except when hunting and fishing away from home. All the children go to school and some are moving south to attend university.

WRITING DIFFERS

In the eastern Arctic a syllabic language — similar to shorthand — is written and spoken; in the western area the Roman alphabet is used.

"They learned the alphabet from missionaries," Miss Panegoosho said. "I translate my paper Eskimo Way, into the two languages. It is published three times a year so that my people can learn what is happening in Ottawa and across Canada."

"There are some 11,500 Eskimos in the whole of Canada, but only 200 of them live at my home, Pond Inlet. They are friendly people and they enjoy welcoming visitors from the south."

WEEK OF NIGHT

There is no sunshine at Pond Inlet during December and for one week there is no light at all. Winter temperatures range from 10 above to 45 below zero. "It is so cold you cannot smile."

Surprisingly, the visitor is "unattached" but says she has many good friends in Ottawa.

The exhibition she will open Friday will continue until Aug. 25. It will feature the Eskimo paintings of Victoria artist Geneva Lent of 808 St. Charles and many authentic Eskimo works.

In Victoria, Miss Panegoosho is staying with Mr. and Mrs. Alan Neuert at 1642 Warren Gardens.

Plaque Presented By Claremont Grads

Graduating Grade 12 students at Claremont Senior Secondary School presented a plaque to the school during graduation ceremonies Wednesday night.

President of the class Joan Youell made the presentation. Cheryl Moyer was class valedictorian.

Social Credit MLA William Speare is in Jubilee Hospital here with a bleeding ulcer.

Mr. Speare, member for Cariboo, lives in Central Saanich.

His condition was "good" according to hospital authorities. He was admitted last Friday, but so far has not undergone any surgery.

Mr. Speare, 47, has been a member of the legislature since 1957.

Retirement of Thomas Emmerson, for 40 years headmaster of Malvern House School, was announced during prize-giving ceremonies Wednesday night at the school.

Succeeding Mr. Emmerson will be Colonel and Mrs. P. T. Sealy of Westerham School.

A tribute to the retiring headmaster was paid by Squadron-Leader Clarence S. Goode, who also presented prizes.

Graeme Paterson was winner of the Victor Laureorem cup.

Police crackdown on overnight street parkers was urged on city council Wednesday by Mrs. Harold Sandall, 292 Douglas. She complained that cars owned by tenants or visitors at high rise apartments nearby were parked all night in a Beacon Hill parking bay on the east side of Douglas, which she claimed was illegal.

B.C. BEST FOR HOLIDAYS, TOURING MINISTER SAYS

"Stay home for your holidays" is Recreation Minister Earle Westwood's plea to British Columbians.

By "home" he means B.C. He has just returned to Victoria from a tour of the province.

"The highways are in first class condition, the accommodation picture is excellent and the quality of meals and service is at a new high," he said today.

Mr. Westwood said British

Columbians will find a holiday spent in their home province is cheaper, the weather better and the scenery grander than anywhere else.

"We spend a lot of money to bring people to B.C. because it means revenue for all of us."

"By the same token every British Columbian who spends his holiday money within the province is keeping it working at home, and making an extra contribution to the well-being of all of us."

ASSINIBOINE MAY BE LATE FOR CEREMONY

Everyone's Ready But the Bride

By MONTE ROBERTS

They're going ahead with the ceremony, whether the central figure is ready or not.

And the central figure looked anything but ready today, as workmen from Victoria Machinery Depot and HMC Dockyard swarmed over her in the final stages of a major conversion.

The central figure is DDE 234, which will be commissioned into the Royal Canadian Navy Friday as HMCS Assiniboine.

It is the second commissioning for Assiniboine, the first being in August, 1956, at Sorel, Quebec. She served out of Halifax before being transferred to the Pacific Command in February, 1959, and was senior ship of the Second Canadian Escort Squadron until she was paid-off in June, 1962, and taken in hand for conversion by VMD.

FIRST OF SEVEN

She is the first of seven St. Laurent-class destroyers to have two valuable anti-submarine weapons added to her arsenal; her own helicopter, with dunking sonar and weapons; and a Canadian-developed variable-depth sonar supplementing her detection devices.

The installation of a hangar and flight deck for the helicopter brings the biggest change in her appearance, as the photo shows. The former single stack has been split into two funnels, and the VDS at the stern also changes her appearance.

But the biggest changes don't meet the eye, and explain why workmen are still swarming over her on the eve of her second coming-out.

Except for main machinery spaces and the hull itself, the conversion has called for an almost total redesign inside the ship.

2,400 MAN-MONTHS

It is estimated the work represents about 2,400 man-months of work.

Main projects involved strengthening the hull, providing hangar and fueling facilities for heavy-duty anti-submarine helicopters, altering the stern for VDS and associated equipment, rearranging office and accommodation facilities, extensive rewiring and adding activated fire stabilizers to the hull to reduce roll in rough weather as an aid to copter operations.

The commissioning ceremonies will go ahead Friday so the ship can meet her commitments—post conversion trials in August, then a transfer back to the Atlantic Command in mid-September.

"There are some 11,500 Eskimos in the whole of Canada, but only 200 of them live at my home, Pond Inlet. They are friendly people and they enjoy welcoming visitors from the south."

SINGLE SPEECH

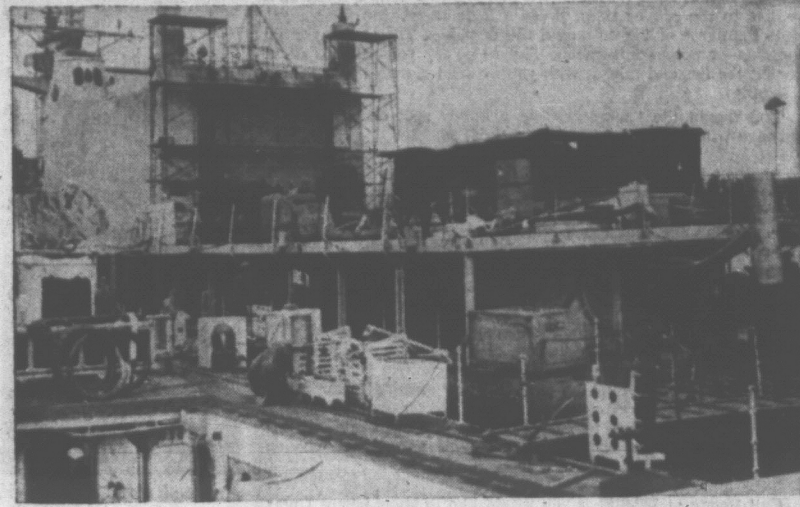

The ceremony will be brief, with the usual commissioning, with only one speech, by the commanding officer, Cmdr. Walter S. Blandy, scheduled.

The ceremony will be at dockside on Jetty C, HMC Dockyard at 11:15 a.m., where the Assiniboine lies outboard of HMCS Saguenay.

The religious service will be conducted by Rev. A. J. Mowatt, Protestant chaplain, and Rev. Hugh McGettigan, Roman Catholic chaplain.

FRIDAY MEETINGS

Victoria Lions Club: noon, Empress Hotel; installation of officers.

Ready or not, new Assiniboine makes her debut Friday.

'No High-Rise Ever On Campus Fringes'

By IAIN HUNTER

Chairman of the University Development Board said today high-rise apartments never will be built on the fringe of Gordon Head campus.

Harold B. Elworthy was commenting on Cadboro Bay Ratepayers' Association letter to the University Development Board said that Oak Bay council "has inferred it will no longer insist that the university be ringed with apartments and other commercial developments."

"We further understand from press reports that Oak Bay Council has inferred that if the University board makes the request, this unfortunate apartment and commercial zoning will be rescinded."

The letter said that "a large number of Saanich residents in the University area, is overwhelmingly in favor of the University taking a fearless stand to prevent 'short-sighted commercial and apartment development.'"

However, it is understood Oak Bay council only would "consider" such a request from the university.

An Oak Bay official said today a number of parties already have shown an interest in developing the property in question.

Speaking personally, Mr. Elworthy, who recently was named a governor of the University of Victoria, said the controversy about high-rise apartments "ringing" the campus was unnecessary.

NOT WORRIED

"I'm not worried because I know they're not going in there," he said.

Although the 400-foot strip of land on the south side of the campus, and on the west side up to the Saanich boundary, is reserved for high-rise development, the college still would have the final say on the type of buildings to be erected.

Theoretically, university architects could condemn all proposed plans for apartments. The land then might lie fallow for 75 years by which time the university will control the property outright.

Mr. Elworthy also said he couldn't foresee high-rise apartments being built across from the campus on the other side of Cedar Hill or Gordon Head Roads.

"I can't see anyone being that stupid," he said. "I don't think it presents a problem at all."

CEREMONY TODAY

25 Civic Employees Win 25-Year Badges

A total of 807 years service divided among 25 City Hall employees was to be recognized today in a special ceremony at a city council meeting.

Mayor R. B. Wilson was to present long-service lapel pins to members of the Quarter-Century Club in the first ceremony of its kind.

The mayor persuaded city council earlier this year to order the gold pins, bearing the city's seal in relief, along with diamond chips for every five years' service beyond 25 years.

All 25 persons who qualify now will receive this mark of recognition at the mass ceremony. Individual presentations will be made to those who enter the club in future.

Longest service record is held by former chief cashier J. T. Smith, the only member of the club who has retired.

He served at City Hall for 47 years, joining the staff Dec. 11, 1911.

Others on the honor list and their years of service are:

M. F. Hunter, 45; J. R. Marrs, 44; A. G. Joyce, 39; T. G. Harris, 36; W. E. Farmer, 35; E. S. Gropp, 33; W. G. Hook, 34; G. F. Sharpe, 34; A. McKiernon, 33; S. R. Carter, 32; W. H. Warren, 32; B. Sullivan, 31; W. G.

Oil Rights Net B.C. $3,491,194

B.C. raised $3,491,194 at a sale of oil and gas rights here Wednesday.

The money goes into the province's general revenue coffers.

Mines Minister Kenneth Kieran reported bids were accepted on 61 of 79 parcels of land auctioned by his department.

Oil companies acquired five drilling reservations and 56 petroleum and natural gas leases on Crown land.

Hottest prospect is 660 acres five miles south of Kotoho Lake in the northeastern corner of the province.

Frontier Oil and Gas Ltd. paid a price of $650 an acre with its bonus bid of $428,975 for the parcel.

SHOPPING GUIDE

Kitchen Secretary Makes Printed Shopping Lists

By PENNY SAVER

"Would you pick up my groceries while you are out shopping," Linda wanted to know, as I started my travels this morning.

Penny's a good Joe, so naturally she said yes. But the list Linda gave her! She guessed off half the groceries and gave up deciphering the rest.

That's why an item called a "kitchen secretary" caught her eye in a local hardware store. It has a revolving disc with 45 different items listed on it. When you want something, you turn the disc to the proper item, press a little lever, and the gadget prints the name of the item on a roll of paper. Then when you go shopping—or persuade someone else to go for you—all you do is tear off the list and take it with you or send it with them. It will be legible!

You mount the "secretary" in a handy spot on the wall or cupboard with enclosed nails. Price is $1.98.

Another item practically indispensable in the kitchen is a splash-proof cover for frying pan. This allows food to fry without steaming and still keeps grease off walls and stove.

Particular one that Penny saw consists of three pieces, bottom with great number of holes, raised top which lets out steam and centre handle which holds top and bottom together. This makes it easy to clean for it comes apart for washing. It will fit any pan up to 11½ inches and is priced at $1.49.

For summer entertaining, the hostess will be pleased with sets of a dozen differently-shaped cutters for making hors d'oeuvres. Price is $1.50.

And if you've been having trouble lately opening oysters, this store has good supply of oyster knives for the purpose. Ordinary ones are 29 cents, but for close-shelled oysters found on our coast, its best to use one with steel guard as well as wooden handle, which sells for 45 cents.

Call Penny at 382-3131 if you would like to know where I was shopping.

Vows Heard at Ganges

Blue delphiniums and white roses decorated Ganges United Church on Salt Spring Island when Thelma Davies became the bride of Ralph Arthur Munroe. Rev. R. B. Knipe, Duncan, officiated.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. G. Reid of Vesuvius Bay. Groom's parents are Mrs. Hugh Montgomery, Cache Creek, B.C., and R. Munroe, Queen Charlotte Islands.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore a three-piece suit of navy and white Italian cashmere with a white hat, navy accessories and a red and white rose corsage. The groom's gift of a gold heirloom brooch matched her wide heirloom wedding ring.

Mrs. Anthony DeAngelis attended her sister in a pink and white suit of fine imported wool, with white hat and accessories and rose corsage in deeper shade of pink.

D. W. Orton was best man and Mr. DeAngelis ushered guests to their pews. Mrs. J. A. Tomlinson was organist.

A small informal reception followed at the home of the bride's parents. Grant Cruickshank proposed the toast to the bride.

After a honeymoon motoring trip the newlyweds will make their home at Cache Creek.

World Council Names Head

WASHINGTON (CP)—Mrs. Erwin Schuller, formerly of Toronto, was elected Tuesday as president of the International Council of Women at its 75th annual conference here. Mrs. Schuller, now liaison officer for the council at the United Nations in New York, lived in Toronto for five years before coming to New York in 1939.

Mr. and Mrs. Frank W. Barton of Cowichan Station, have announced the engagement of their daughter, Donna Mae, to Mr. Daniel Alexander Ferguson, son of Mr. and Mrs. A. H. Ferguson, 1452 Gladstone Avenue. The wedding will take place on July 13 at 7:30 p.m. in St. John's Anglican Church, with Canon George Biddle officiating. (Miss Barton's photo by Meyer's)

Accepted For Training

Word has been received by Mr. and Mrs. G. H. Dean that their daughter Shirley has been accepted by the Atlantic School of Airline Career Training for airline administration. Miss Dean is a graduate of Mount View High School where for the past three years she was active in school activities. In 1962 she was a member of the Future Nurses Club, was band secretary and winner of an award in English.

In the past year she served as band president, was a member of the Future Nurses and Scholarship Clubs and was one of three nominees for the annual leadership award.

The young student will take her study course in Victoria, then go on for a month practical training at Kansas City, Mo., prior to posting.

DEAR ABBY . . .

Teach 'Em Young!

By ABIGAIL VAN BUREN

DEAR ABBY: This morning while in the grocery store my four-year-old son took one grape from a display. I saw him take it, but thought that one grape was nothing to make a fuss about. A woman saw it and said to me, "My, they learn young. When he is 16 he'll be stealing cars!" Abby, what I want to know is this: Was I wrong in not making a scene over one grape? Or do you think a four-year-old child should get a sermon in a grocery store starting with, "Thou shalt not steal?"

YOUNG MOTHER

DEAR MOTHER: A child should not be permitted to help himself to ANYTHING that does not belong to him. The size of the theft is unimportant. (A 10-carat diamond is no larger than a grape, you know.)

DEAR ABBY: You are not so "dear" to me after your advice to the camping mother. "Check into a motel," you tell her. If she's anything like the camping wives I've seen, she'll ask for a room for ONE. Just a bed. Don't need a kitchen. The kids will sleep in the car—or the tent. The next morning it takes the maid four hours to get the chocolate milk out of the bedspread, dig the hamburger onions out from under the bed, and get the dog hair out of the rug. It would be easier to burn down the motel and start over than to clean up the mess.

BEAT MOTEL OPERATOR DEAR ABBY: "Aggie"—who served her guests cat food campers to prove to her husband that people will eat anything at a cocktail party—has a warped sense of humor. Besides, she didn't prove what trust a person who shouldn't be set out to prove. She only proved that many people will be trusted.

Norman Tyrrell Sings At Cathedral Wedding

Well-known tenor Norman Tyrrell sang "Ave Maria" at ceremony in St. Andrew's Cathedral that united Judith Ann Parsons, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. G. H. Parsons, 1410 Ryan Street, and John Edward Thomson, son of Mr. and Mrs. Cleaver Wilson, 5319 Parker Avenue. Fr. William Hill heard the marriage vows.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore a floor-length gown of embroidered nylon that had lovers' knots highlighting the softly draped skirt. Sleeves ended in lily points and bodice featured a jewel neckline. Gardenias formed her bouquet.

Mrs. J. Cunningham was matron of honor and bridesmaids were the Misses Gerri Schuman and Frances Hatcher. All wore gowns of peach and apple green organza over taffeta, toning shoes and floral hats and carried peach-toned gladioli.

Douglas Wilson was best man and ushering guests were Rod Stevens and Bob Parsons, the bride's brother.

Mr. Tyrrell proposed the toast to the bride at the reception which followed in the Loughheed's Banquet Hall. Red roses flanked the wedding cake on the head table.

Out-of-town guests included Mr. and Mrs. G. W. Seward and Gerry and Mr. and Mrs. Harold Weeks, all of Vancouver, and Mr. and Mrs. G. J. Watson of Seattle.

Red accessories and a gardenia corsage complemented the bride's going-away suit of oyster white imported wool.

After a honeymoon trip to California, the newlyweds will make their home at the Regency Heights, Gordon Head.

Miss Daniels Installed Soroptimist President

Club colors in blue and yellow flowers with matching candles, were used to decorate tables for annual dinner meeting and installation ceremony of the Soroptimist Club of Victoria. Gathering was held in the private dining room at Oak Bay Beach Hotel on Tuesday evening.

Seated with the retiring president Mrs. Annett Pohl at the head table were Mrs. N. Kemp, Vancouver, governor of the western Canada region; Miss Florence Daniels, president-elect; Mrs. G. Silley, North Vancouver, and Miss Roma Comroy, Nanaimo.

Other guests included Mrs. S. Robbins, North Vancouver; Mrs. M. Shepherd, Nanaimo; Mrs. A. Brewer, Edmonton; Mrs. R. Reynolds, Mrs. R. Rud-dock and Miss Muriel Thompson, all of Victoria.

Installation ceremony was conducted by Mrs. Kemp with incoming officers lighting candles to represent tolerance, sincerity, wisdom, friendship, service and loyalty. The officers are Miss Daniels, president; Mrs. Margaret Dockrill, first vice-president; Mrs. J. U. Kimmett, second vice-president; Miss Louise Bartlett, corresponding secretary; Miss Gloria Mortimore and Miss Marion Storey, board members.

During the evening Miss Amy Hall proposed a toast to the International Federation of America, Inc., and response was made by Miss Comroy. In a special ceremony Mrs. Pohl welcomed Mrs. Alice Mallek, who joined the club in 1936, as a life member.

Mrs. Kemp addressed the gathering on Soroptimist work and its aims and objectives. Mrs. Reynolds acted as pianist.

The Wind-Up

Navy Retreats, Others Stand Firm

The weatherman did battle, Wednesday afternoon, with an onslaught on the annual Dogwood garden fete, arranged by the Women's Auxiliary to Veterans' Hospital and held on the hospital grounds.

Band of HMCS Naden turned up at 2 p.m., stood firm until 2:30 p.m. then decided to capitulate, declining to run the risk of having valuable instruments ruined by rain.

Less daunted were the four young Patterson children, who defied the menacing clouds and sang and played their instruments to the delight of the crowd.

Ann played her mandolin, Bill his recorder, Pat a tenuous guitar and petite Susie, a glockenspiel.

Stall conveners batted down their waists against the wind and guests determinedly drank tea at tables on the lawn, their only concession to inclement weather being their raincoats and umbrellas.

Sum of $2,500 was raised, just $100 less than proceeds raised last year when the weatherman was in more co-operative mood.

Mrs. E. G. Hart was general convenor and received guests with president, Mrs. H. F. Jarvis, and past president, Mrs. E. Vant. Affair was opened by Mrs. A. P. Nation.

Highland and Irish dancing, to the accompaniment of piping, added to afternoon's program. Dancers were from the Adeline Duncan Studio.

Purple iris, blue cornflowers and flame-toned gladioli that centred head tea tables were complemented by blue candles in silver candelabra. Presiding were Mrs. John Adam and Mrs. W. McConnell. Flowers were arranged by Miss Doris Hasall.

Tea was convened by Mrs. E. Young, assisted by Mrs. P. W. Richards, member of the John Hebdon Gillespie Chapter, IOOE. Also helping were the Lions Club Women's Auxiliary and members of the Ex-Service Women's Branch No.

The United States delegation of 65, sponsored by the Women's Strike for Peace Organization, sat through both the Japanese and Cuban speeches.

At an organization committee meeting Sunday night, the British and French delegations joined the Italians in protesting cold war speeches. But the British and French also did not join in the boycott.

STAY PUT

Mrs. Ruth Gage Colby, of New York, an international organizer of the Strike for Peace Organization, defended the American refusal to join the walk-out.

"I think walking out is discourteous—and is in itself a cold war tactic," she said, adding that she was expressing only her personal view.

The Kremlin appeared to be caught in the middle of a policy dispute that crept into the congress. The Russians had hoped to drum up support from the women for their positions on peace, disarmament, anti-colonialism and other issues. But Chinese and Albanian delegates said they would bring up ideological issues that have split the Communist world.

Here is the letter:

"Dear Mrs. [redacted]:"

"This evolved to such a point that the first one to remember in the morning says, 'I've touched it.' Presumably there is one touching the new day first; it is the lucky child.

"It doesn't always work just like that. For instance, when the lucky child falls down and skinned a knee, I comment, 'Isn't it lucky that you only hurt one knee? I'll bet you were the one who grabbed the new day first.'"

Lowman "I just read Lowman your column about family sayings with great interest. We have many, one of which I think you might be interested

'Berlin Scare' Led to Firings

By DAVE McINTOSH

OTTAWA (CP)—Former navy petty officer Eric Clifford Petersen, 31, of Victoria may have been a victim of the 1961 Berlin crisis, informants indicated Wednesday.

Intelligence sources said it was government policy, at least at that time, to have dismissed from government service persons in sensitive jobs who had Communist relatives.

Mr. Petersen was given an honorable discharge by the navy Nov. 25, 1961, but was dismissed because his father-in-law had joined the Communist party in the 1930s.

Sources said policy on security for all federal departments and agencies is set by the government.

Defence Minister Hellyer said in the Commons Wednesday that the defence department's policy on security was set by a general government directive in 1955.

Mr. Petersen was sacked soon after his appointment to the destroyer Saguenay. But he had served on the Skeena, a sister ship of the Saguenay, from March, 1957, until April, 1959, without his security rating apparently ever being questioned.

SAME EQUIPMENT

A naval spokesman said the equipment in the two destroyers is exactly the same. Mr. Petersen was married July 23, 1954, and consequently his relationship by marriage to Charles E. Peltmaa, the Communist party member of the 1930s, began that day.

Mr. Petersen was not judged a security risk while serving on the Skeena but was judged to be one while serving on the Saguenay.

Thus a government policy of quietly releasing persons with Communist relatives apparently became operative some time in the latter half of 1961.

This would indicate, informants said, that the government in 1961 became highly alarmed over the Berlin crisis of that year.

SPY SCARE

There was also a spy scare in Britain and Canada at that time. Two Soviet spies carrying Canadian passports were uncovered in Britain and a Polish military attaché here was ordered out of the country.

It was about this time that Gordon Knott of Lake Cowichan, B.C., was discharged from the navy on the grounds, subsequently proved false, that he was a nephew of Ernest Knott, a Communist party candidate in the 1953 federal election.

Informants were emphatic that neither the RCMP, the defence department nor any other government department or agency establishes policy on security. This was a matter for the government itself.

One source said it would be impossible to say how many

No Meeting, But SIU Hopes Still Undimmed

Seafarers' International Union (Ind.) still hopes to recruit 900 B.C. government ferry-men even though an organizational meeting here was cancelled.

Rod Heinekey, SIU, vice-president, Vancouver, said meetings of prospective membership, now members of B.C. Government Employees' Association, will be held in Victoria and Nanaimo.

Reason for cancelling the meeting here last week was that SIU officers were—and still are—engaged in a dispute with Northland Navigation Ltd.

The firm's Alaska cruise ship Canadian Prince sailed this week with crew from another rival union, Canadian Brotherhood of Railways, Transport and General Workers.

COURT ACTION SOUGHT

Seafarers are seeking court intervention to prevent the firm from hiring rivals.

Mr. Heinekey said a recent meeting of government ferry-men in Vancouver drew 22 people to hear advantages of joining the SIU. A previous meeting had drawn 30, only four of whom went to the second meeting, the union officer said.

Meanwhile, A. R. Kemp, of BCGEA, said that to his knowledge "we haven't lost any membership" to the SIU.

He accuses the SIU of trying to raid members from his organization, but the SIU argues that a number of ferry-men had asked the join the seafarers.

SIU already has about 200 card-carrying members employed by B.C. Ferries—membership surviving the government takeover of Black Ball operations in 1961.

Although these men are still members of the SIU, they have not paid dues since the takeover.

Projects Halted

TORONTO (CP)—Construction projects worth millions of dollars were halted Wednesday as pickets from the International Marble, Tile and Terrazzo Workers' Union (AFL-CIO) protested the use of a non-union laborer on one project.

Veteran 'Chutist Hero Of Plane Fire Tragedy

SENNELAGER, West Germany (Reuters) — A veteran parachutist was the hero of an air crash here Wednesday that killed 38 Belgian military men, most of them paratroopers.

Sgt. Maj. Cleiskooko, 40, pushed seven of his men out of the blazing American-built C-119 transport as it crashed near the NATO training base here, and took another down with him on his own chute.

His story came out as senior Belgian air force officers, led by Defence Minister P. W. Sengers, arrived to launch an inquiry into the crash which occurred during a training exercise called Lance I.

British officers who hurried to the crash scene said they found Cleiskooko reprimanding the shaken survivors for making faulty landings.

One of the men broke a leg and another was in hospital with shock. Another was hung up in a tree and had to be cut down.

The bodies of 33 paratroopers and the five-man crew were found in and around the charred wreckage.

Bennett Plans Campaign Climax

Premier Bennett plans to spend at least two days in Columbia riding near the end of the byelection campaign, a spokesman from his office said today.

Although details have not been worked out, he plans to be there July 12 and 13, giving a windup speech at Golden on the Saturday before polling day.

The byelection is July 15.

In the first three months of 1963 operating revenue of the airlines—accounting for nearly 90 per cent of total operating revenues of all airlines—increased 12.4 per cent to $57,906,600 from $51,496,900 a year earlier.

Fur Flying At Esquimalt Zone Hearing

Integrity of Esquimalt municipal council was questioned by furious citizens Wednesday night at a public hearing on a proposed Rockheights garden apartment.

Nearly 500 residents, crowded into the Esquimalt Junior High School auditorium were told:

An agreement between the municipality and Marquardt Construction Ltd. of Victoria has been drafted and signed, and would go into effect if the area were rezoned for garden apartments;

Selling price for the 7.91 acres was about $20,000, of which one third had already been paid;

There would be 96 suites in the development, housed in six-suite buildings mostly, with some four-suite and one eight-suite building;

Rentals are expected to range from $110 monthly for one-bedroom suites to $175 for three-bedroom suites;

Marquardt Construction is bound to build a kindergarten for the development;

Proposed development would not be comparable to any other garden apartment development in Victoria at present;

And the agreement between Esquimalt municipality and Marquardt Construction was signed April 23, weeks before any member of the public knew about the proposed development.

FOUR-HOUR OUTCRY

Protesting residents, spearheaded by the Esquimalt United Action Association formed specifically to block the garden apartment development, held the floor for almost three hours before planners presented the scheme, and again for an hour of rebuttal. Municipal solicitor William McIntyre was asked if there was in existence an agreement between the developers and the municipality.

He said there was, outlined the agreement, and gave the date.

"You told 16 of us there was no agreement," P. A. Boyd, 1189 High Park, shouted to Reeve A. C. Wurtelle.

"This public hearing has the appearance of window dressing."

COUNCIL HONORABLE?

"You said the council are honorable men... they could not be honorable (in having agreement when the reeve had said there was none)."

Speaker after speaker protesting the development described the proposed development as "row housing" or "instant slum." They claimed there were no guarantees that a garden apartment development would not deteriorate rapidly into cheap housing for transients.

ANTIS FIRE SALVOS

Main arguments in the anti-reve:

Garden apartment developments degenerate into slums; Nearby schools would be overcrowded with development children ("at least 300") that a shift system would have to be instituted;

Property values in adjacent areas would go down;

A traffic problem would be caused;

Municipality could realize $100,000 from the same 7.91 acres if subdivided for single-family residences;

(The acreage is located on the old Transfer property south of the Highrock cairn park, behind the houses in the 1100 block of Old Esquimalt Road.)

Area should be kept as a park anyway;

No proper investigation of Marquardt Construction Co. had been made.

NO SUIT PLANNED

(Victoria lawyer David Hummel, counsel for Marquardt Construction Ltd., said today no legal action is contemplated as a result of attacks on the developing company.

(He added: "We deplore the way the reeve and council were treated at the meeting.")

Due to the length of the hearing, which ran until after midnight, there was no opportunity to show plans of the proposed development.

Architect Leo Lund of the North Vancouver firm of Lund, King and Associates, gave a verbal description of his conception of the garden apartment development.

He refuted an earlier assertion that 80 per cent of garden apartments degenerate into slums in 10 years, pointing out that 10 years ago there were virtually no garden apartment developments in North America, and none in B.C.

He also stated that in his opinion as an architect the controversial Burnside development is "not a true garden apartment," and that the Christie Point development might only just fall into the garden apartment category.

Municipal engineer John Graeme came under fire for his statement that the 7.91 acres could not be made into more than 23 single-family lots. "I know a man who estimated it at 32," said Cliff Newberg.

CAN HAVE MY JOB?

"He can have my job any time council wants to give it to him," Graeme replied. Esquimalt council will now consider the transcript of the hearing, and will vote on the bylaw permitting the development at an open meeting.

Reeve Wurtelle promised Esquimalt United Action Association president Bernard Cassels that he would be notified in advance of the meeting.

Mr. Cassels reiterated to a reporter the intention of his association to seek an injunction "from the Supreme Court if necessary" to block the garden apartment development.

STRENUOUS water-handling and stability test was given new CH-113 helicopter, designed and produced as search and rescue craft for RCAF, off Cape May, N.J. Helicopter, which cruises at 150 miles an hour, completed test in three-to-five-foot waves. (CP Photo.)

CIVIL SERVANT

Joined as Page in 1917

Cecil Davies' 14th finance minister will give him a gold watch Friday.

years of service for the provincial government.

Mr. Davies, now 60, joined the government service as a page boy at the age of 14 in 1917.

He is now inspector of government agencies.

On Friday, at a ceremony in the finance department offices, Premier Bennett will give him a watch and a scroll for meritorious service.

Mr. Bennett is also finance minister, the 14th that Mr. Davies has served in his long career.

HART GAVE FIRST BREAK

They met in a legislative buildings corridor one day when Mr. Davies was earning $45 a month in the public works department.

"How much are you making?" asked Mr. Hart.

When he heard, he promptly offered the junior employee a raise to $75 in the finance department.

Mr. Davies started as a page-boy because of a misunderstanding. He thought the job paid $50 a month—pretty good wages at 14 in 1917.

POOR PAY FOR PAGE

He later found it was $50 for three months—the entire session of the legislature.

He became inspector of government agencies in 1948, a job which took him touring the province each year.

ters, will take a cruise around the world.

Although Mr. Davies' long service is remarkable, it's a long way from the fantastic record established by the late Harry Cathcart who retired as deputy minister of lands in 1946.

He joined the government at the age of 13 and served 60 years.

Brooms, Baskets For Sale

Oak Bay Handicapped Crafts Group, organized a year ago, is having its first sale of baskets and hearth brooms this Friday and Saturday.

Organizer of the group, Mrs. Alan Sutton, 2453 Currie is assisted by volunteers from the Oak Bay Kiwanis, the Anglican Women's Auxiliary, the Victorian Handweaver's Guild and volunteer drivers.

The group operates on a $50 grant from the Oak Bay Recreation Commission and $25 from the Soroptimist Club. Money from the articles sold will go to the people who made them, less 15 per cent to the group for materials. Articles will be on sale in the Jeanne Harper Method Beauty Salon from 9 a.m. to 5 p.m.

Hoodlums Arrested

TOKYO (AP)—More than 1,000 Tokyo policemen conducted a series of city-wide raids Wednesday and arrested 181 hoodlums. The raids were part of the summer anti-violence drive and brought to 1,244 the number of hoodlums arrested since the campaign was launched June 11.

Optimist Club Fails To End Discrimination

TORONTO (CP)—A Toronto member has appealed to the conscience of 77,000 fellow Optimists to end racial discrimination in the international service organization.

The appeal came after an anti-discrimination resolution died in committee stage at the Optimist convention here.

Herbert Barnes, a former district governor of Optimist International, told reporters the subject to reach the floor of the convention is by an "invitation of the convention or strong request of the delegates."

Singer Recovers

TORONTO (CP)—Singer Rosemary Clooney was released from hospital Tuesday night after treatment for food poisoning, but her place on a CBC television program was taken by another singer. Miss Clooney arrived here Sunday night from Hot Springs, Ark., and was to appear Wednesday night on the program Parade.

U.S. Plans Slash In Armed Forces

WASHINGTON (UPI)—The U.S. is preparing to reduce its overseas military deployments and cut the size of its army, navy and air force, probably over a period of two years.

A military manpower slash of about 60,000—perhaps more—is one of several drastic moves now in prospect as the Kennedy administration seeks to reverse the upward spiral of defence spending and achieve large economies.

CUT IN FORCES?

Other measures now being discussed in the capital include withdrawal of one of the army's two divisions in South Korea and larger cuts in support forces in Europe; reduction of navy aircraft carrier forces, and swifter junking of the air force's aging B-47 bomber fleet.

Gemini Tests Set

HOUSTON (AP)—The Manned Spacecraft Centre will begin testing full-size Gemini space ships in Galveston Bay and the Gulf of Mexico early this fall. The centre made practice recoveries of both Apollo and Gemini space craft models Tuesday with the centre's new ship, the Retriever, in Galveston Bay.

Hydro Pays Taxes For Another Year

Municipalities Wednesday were guaranteed there will be no reduction for at least another year in tax grants from B.C. Hydro.

A cabinet order assured them they will get at least as much money as they did in 1961 from the B.C. Electric Co. and the B.C. Power Commission.

The two were merged in 1962 after government takeover of B.C. Electric.

The order says that tax grants to municipalities and unorganized territory will be the total of the amount of property and improvement taxes paid by the two companies in 1961.

The power commission used to pay 3 per cent of its gross volume of power sales to municipalities. B.C. Electric had a different formula based upon a number of factors.

A hydro official said the percentage system will not be used in future.

A new formula and basis of payment are being worked out by hydro accountants and directors, he said.

In 1962 the municipalities were assured the same grants as 1961 for one year only. Today's order continues this arrangement.

It does not say how long it will be continued. The hydro spokesman said it would be for the next year at least.

He said the grants will probably be exactly the same as last year, certainly not less.

Ever Hear of a "DIURETIC"?

Maybe not. But you should know what a "diuretic" does. There may be times when you should use one. You likely understand how important the kidneys are in maintaining good health. Also that if the kidneys fail to function properly excess acids and waste material remain in the system. This may result in subsequent urinary irritation and bladder discomfort, often followed by backache, tired feeling and disturbed rest.

This is when the diuretic service of Dodd's Kidney Pills may be helpful. Dodd's act as a diuretic stimulant to help restore normal kidney action, and so relieve the systemic condition causing backache and tired feeling. When you are bothered by backache and tired feeling due to lazy kidney action you can depend on Dodd's Kidney Pills as many thousands have done during the past 70 years. Look for Dodd's at any drug counter.

HUNDREDS RENTED TO WORKERS

Trailer Life Suits Folk
At Peace River Damsite

By NORMAN CRIBBENS
HUDSON HOPE—Trailer courts are mushrooming for miles around the multi-million dollar Peace power project at Portage Mountain.
Among the enthusiasts for this way of life are Mr. and Mrs. Edwin Quirk, who lived until recently at Sayward Beach, Cordova Bay, Victoria.

With their children Sharon 7 and Tom 5, they are housed in trailer, replete with refrigerator, propane-gas oven, built-in electric clock, kitchen and bathroom; within easy reach of a laundromat shared with other workers on the campsite.

Their B.C.-built trailer is typical of hundreds rented to workers and their families at from $120 to $135 a month.

Dust and 'Skeeters
Mrs. Quirk, formerly Mary Gardiner of Victoria, finds housekeeping fairly straightforward apart from the dust and the mosquitoes which wriggle through the mesh screens.
Edwin Quirk is assistant construction superintendent on the B.C. Hydro project—a slim, conversational man who likes his job and enjoys life in the wilderness.

"We got rid of our TV when we left Cordova Bay," he said, "because they told us reception here was poor, and so far we haven't missed it. There is so much else to do."
Attractive, auburn-haired Mrs. Quirk is a promising painter who took lessons at Victoria Art Gallery, and the wild mountain scenery around Hudson Hope is a challenge to her brush.

"I shall get to work with the oils soon," she promised.
Artist's Paradise
As we talked, cloud shadows flitted over the wide expanse of forest, broken by stretches of rich green meadowland, and a shaft of sunlight touched the snowy flat-topped peak of Mount Gething—named after a Victoria family.

"Of course," said Victoria-born Edwin Quirk, "we haven't spent a winter here yet, but our neighbors tell us it's less rigorous than they expected. Cold certainly, but there's an outdoor skating rink nearby and the kids seem to thrive on below-zero weather."

Any doctor?
"No. We rarely hear of anyone being sick, but I believe there will be a resident doctor before long. If we need dental work, we'll have to go to Fort St. John or Dawson Creek, as other people do."

Small Hospital
There is a small Red Cross hospital in Hudson Hope village, about 14 miles from the damsite, but only a handful of patients were there when I called.
Sharon Quirk goes by bus to a bright one-room schoolhouse three miles from her home, and this is conducted by Mrs. Flora Sullivan from Qualicum Beach.
Mrs. Sullivan confirms that children thrive on the winter cold of Hudson Hope.
"They seem to get fewer colds than the youngsters I taught on Vancouver Island," she said.

Victorians Mr. and Mrs. Quirk and Tom with family trailer.

This fall a school for grades 8, 9 and 10 will be opened in the village and trailer homes are being equipped for six teachers.

A large Sunday school has been organized by resident hydro engineer Robert Dundas, also a school trustee, whose parents, Hon. and Mrs. R. S. Dundas live at 786 Island Road, Victoria.

Justice in Hudson Hope is administered by Magistrate J. Stewart Don from Ganges, Salt Spring Island, and a small RCMP detachment quartered in a red-roofed private house that is now equipped with an imported steel-framed jail.

MLA Built Hotel
Almost every kind of store—from Jake's barber shop to the Canadian Bank of Commerce on wheels—are housed in trailers along the short, dusty main street. There is a primitive movie theatre, a shack-type dance hall, a laund-

New Home Recipe Reducing Plan
It's simple how quickly one may lose pounds of unsightly fat right in your own home. Make this home recipe yourself. It's easy, no trouble at all and costs little. Just go to your drug store and ask for four ounces of Naran Concentrate. Pour this into a pint bottle and add enough grapefruit juice to fill the bottle. Take two tablespoons full a day as needed and follow the Naran Plan.
If your first purchase does not show you a simple easy way to lose bulky fat and help regain slender more graceful curves; if excess fat don't disappear from neck, chin, arms, abdomen, hips, calves and ankles just return the empty bottle for your money back. Follow this easy way endorsed by many who have tried this plan and help bring back alluring curves and graceful slenderness. Note how quickly bloated disappears—how much better you feel. More alive, youthful appearing and active.

OPERATION FOR PEARSON

OTTAWA (CP)—Prime Minister Pearson will enter hospital today for removal of a small cyst in the right side of his neck.

The 66-year-old prime minister will be in hospital for two or three days and then will spend about a seven-day recuperative period at Harrington Lake, his summer residence.

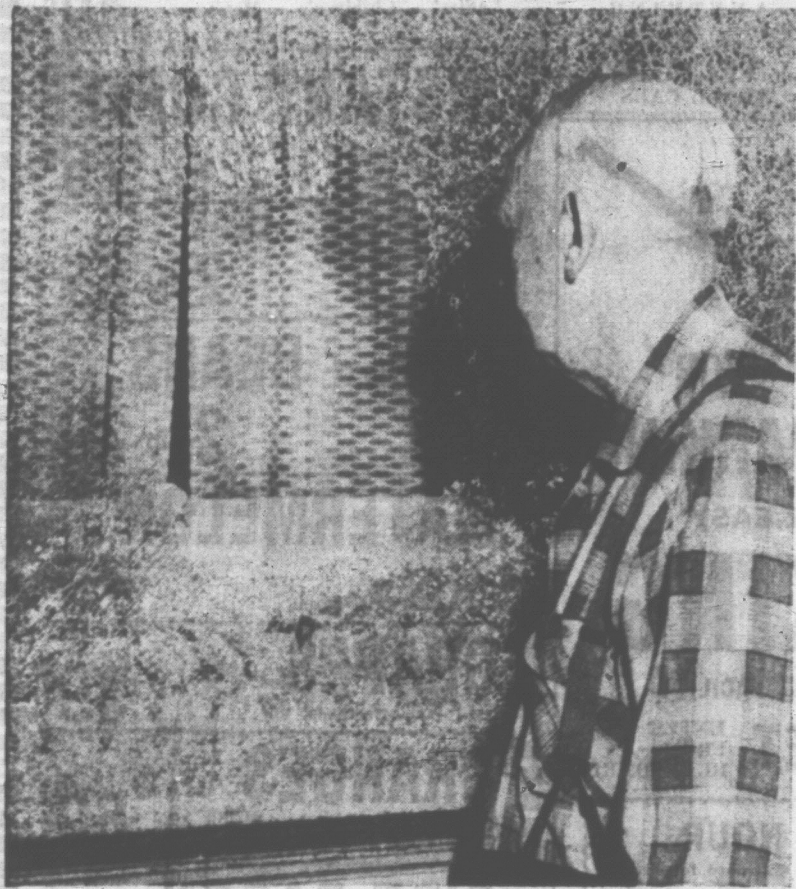

Justice Minister Chevrier will be acting prime minister throughout the period of his absence.

Richard O'Hagan, Mr. Pearson's special assistant, said there is no evidence that the cyst is a malignant condition. Mr. Pearson first noticed it about five or six weeks ago. It is uncomfortable but not painful.

The operation will take place Friday morning.

Mr. Pearson's general health, apart from the cyst, is good. It will be the first time he has been in hospital for 45 years.

'RED' WATER FOR COLONY

HONG KONG (AP)—The first shipment of water sent from Communist China to drought-stricken Hong Kong started flowing into the British colony's mains today.

The Liberian tanker Ianthe brought 3,200,000 gallons Wednesday night from Red China's Pearl River. Red China is furnishing the water free.

A seven-month drought, worst in Hong Kong's history, has reduced the individual ration to four hours of tap water every fourth day. Consumption is 40,000,000 gallons a day, compared with 100,000,000 gallons normally.

NEW WAR MINISTER of Britain is Joseph Godber, 49, who was appointed today to succeed John Profumo who resigned June 5 over Christine Keeler furore. Godber was previously minister of state for foreign affairs.

Yemeni Free Two Soldiers

ADEN (Reuters)—Two of 18 British soldiers held by Yemeni tribesmen have been released because of illness and are being flown to Aden, an army spokesman announced today.

The other 16 servicemen today were removed at gunpoint from the Yemeni customs post where they were being held, and were presumed to be heading for the capital of Yemen, the army spokesman said.

THREE DOZEN

About three dozen rings are missing from the window. A complete inventory has not been made but it appears their value would be between $4,000 and $4,500.

A few pieces of jewelry farther back in the window were left by the robber. All the rings that were taken were carefully removed from their display pads.

A company spokesman refused to comment on why the burglar alarm failed to operate. The alarm system is connected with the charge office in the city police station where it would have sounded an alert if it had functioned properly.

A test was run on the alarm system after the theft was discovered, and a police officer said the system was connected before the store closed for business Wednesday.

TIME NOT KNOWN

City police have not yet ascertained at what time the window was smashed. It is not known when the store was last checked by patrol officers.

Considerable force would be needed to break the window with a rock. The armor plate glass shatters instead of splintering when it is broken.

The store spokesman said it is company policy to remove the most valuable jewelry from window displays overnight.

This is the first time there has been a smash and grab raid on Birks' store in Victoria.

'FACTS ONLY'

Staff Chiefs To Testify

OTTAWA (CP)—The new Commons defence committee agreed today to a precedent-setting move—hearing testimony by the chiefs of staff of the armed forces.

At its opening meeting the committee adopted without discussion a proposal that it hear evidence by the chairman of the chiefs of staff committee and by representatives of the three armed forces and the Defence Research Board.

The proposal came from the committee's all-party steering subcommittee.

External Affairs Minister Martin also will be invited to testify. As well, the committee has power to hear from outside witnesses.

The motion adopted by the committee did not specify what representatives of the three forces will appear. But it was learned that the chiefs of staff likely will testify.

Defence Minister Hellyer has approved the move. The service chiefs will testify on points of fact but not on policy.

A Liberal Party bid for a non-partisan approach to the work of the committee was stopped in its tracks today by Gordon Churchill, former Conservative defence minister.

The appeal was made by chairman Paul Sauve (L—Des-Isle-Madeline) as the committee opened its first meeting.

Mr. Sauve asked for restoration of what he said had been non-partisan support by all political parties for defence policies during "many periods in the past." He said in an opening statement:

"We are not interested in attributing blame or diagnosing responsibility. We are interested in the future."

CALLS IT UNUSUAL
Mr. Churchill, terming the statement "a bit unusual" said he could accept it only as a statement of Mr. Sauve's personal opinion.

"If we are going to get off on the right foot I think it far better for the committee to determine its own purposes."

Harold Winch (NDP—Vancouver East) said Mr. Sauve "had the right idea," though the committee was interested in present as well as future defence policy.

Gerald Laniel (L—Beauharnois-Salaberry), proposed a motion to adopt Mr. Sauve's statement as committee policy. But when Gerald Baldwin (PC—Peace River), disagreed, Mr. Sauve said quickly that there was no need for any motion.

Mr. Sauve said: "We want Continued on Page 2"

Stockpiled Arms 'Safe'

By ALEX YOUNG
Times Ottawa Bureau

OTTAWA—Voodoo interceptors stationed at five RCAF bases across Canada—including those at Comox, B.C.—will not be "flying around during day-to-day operations" with nuclear rockets aboard, Defence Minister Paul Hellyer promised today.

"Normal training and operational interceptions would be done, as they are by the U.S. Air Force, with aircraft equipped with high-explosive—not atomic—rockets," Mr. Hellyer told the Commons defence committee.

But in the event of attack on North America they would be armed with nuclear warheads. Those weapons, however, would have to be released by the president of the U.S., and then no take-off of the RCAF planes would be permitted without the next step in emergency procedure—approval of the Canadian government.

NEGOTIATING

Canada currently is negotiating with the U.S. for an agreement on nuclear warheads for both the Voodoos—CF-101B—and the Bomarc anti-aircraft missiles. It is expected such nuclear dumps would be under the custody of U.S. military personnel until release of the weapons to Canada in event of attack.

After reading his statement Mr. Hellyer was asked what the danger of accidental explosion was in storage of or operational flights with nuclear warheads.

He replied that there never had been any "accidental nuclear explosion through all the years of handling of such weapons by the U.S. or any of its allies."

Defence Costs Scrutinized

OTTAWA (CP)—Defence Minister Hellyer indicated today he wants to scrap the eight-ship, $374,000,000 naval frigate program initiated by the former government to give him financial room to manoeuvre in selection of new weapons.

(B.C. shipbuilders have been counting on getting contracts for three of the proposed frigates—one each to Victoria Machinery Depot Ltd. and Yarrow's Ltd. in Victoria, and to Burrard Dry Dock Ltd. in North Vancouver.)

Mr. Hellyer also hinted before the Commons defence committee that more transport aircraft will be obtained to carry at least one 6,000-man army brigade and that he will reject the RCAF's proposal for acquisition of more CF-104 low-level nuclear jet bombers.

Mr. Hellyer, in his first major policy speech since he assumed the defence portfolio April 22, said at one point:

"All major procurement pro-

Decision Due 'In Few Weeks'

Mr. Hellyer said he hopes decisions on existing weapons projects will be taken "within a few weeks." After that, a general review of future policy would start.

He said he is "considerably concerned" about the effectiveness of the four CF-104 squadrons to be based in France because France does not allow American nuclear warheads on her territory.

"We intend to review carefully the question before proceeding with any additional procurement," the 38-year-old minister said.

Mr. Hellyer said CF-104 targets would not include population centres as such. Targets would be dockyards, airfields, radar installations, military headquarters, fuel dumps and transportation facilities.

"The yield of the (nuclear) bomb assigned would depend on the particular target but in most of these cases would be relatively low-yield — a very small fraction of figures (one megaton or 1,000,000 tons of TNT) which have been used in the Commons and in the press."

Concerning reinforcements for the army brigade in Europe in wartime, Mr. Hellyer said a review is warranted to determine whether the commitment — to send two more brigades to Europe — should be changed "or whether steps should be taken to increase substantially the 'reality' of the reserve components in today's circumstances."

On the Bomarc anti-aircraft missile, Mr. Hellyer said the weapon "is an effective anti-bomber weapon — as good as anything we have available."

(In the 1960 Commons defence committee Mr. Hellyer seconded a CCF motion that the Bomarc program be scrapped.)

"The effectiveness of the system is sufficient to justify the maintenance costs involved," Mr. Hellyer said.

He said Canada's two Bomarc squadrons originally were to have been deployed in northern New York state and Michigan. Canada had persuaded the U.S. to change these plans.

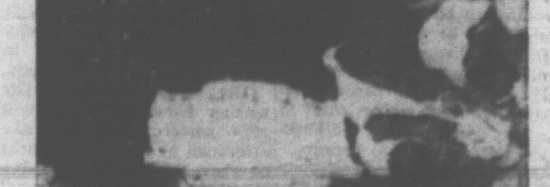

Top NATO Secrets Given to Russians?

STOCKHOLM (AP)—The on certain robot weapons, the Swedish colonel who has confessed to 15 years of spying for the Soviet Union gave the Russians important NATO secrets, the newspaper Aftonbladet says.

Col. Stig Erik Wennerstrom provided the Russians with information on the U.S. air force, facts on North Atlantic Treaty Organization forces and data on the Soviet Union's nuclear arsenal, according to reliable sources.

"Certain facts indicate that Wennerstrom attended a spy school during the three years (1949-1952) he spent as an air force attaché at the Swedish embassy in Moscow. It is also probable that the Russians advised him to ask for a similar mission in Washington later."

VICTORIA, B.C., THURSDAY, JUNE 27, 1963—PAGE 21

Arthur Mayse

The prospect of a nuclear arms dump on our peaceable Island adds nothing to my happiness, especially since I pay taxes on a scrap of cougar pasture up Comox way.

Still, I can see no point in storing those debated warheads anywhere except at the point where we have aircraft to carry them; and one of those locations does happen to be Comox.

The nuts and the professional screamers, we can disregard. Say "bomb" to these people and you trigger an automatic flurry of nuisance marches, glib slogans on highway-facing rocks, and similar exhibitionist capers. The bomb is with us; and the fact that most of us wish it weren't is not going to make it go away.

There are, however, two statements from sincere and rational Vancouver Islanders which will bear pondering.

Says Opposition Leader Robert Strachan:

"The storage of nuclear weapons on Vancouver Island will make this Island an important target area in the event of war, and I am sure our people do not want to be placed in this position."

Listen now to Comox village chairman Ron Ellis: "We've been conditioned to the fact that we might have to have nuclear weapons some day. If the government thinks it's necessary, we're prepared to live with them."

Admittedly, an influx of nuclear arms specialists will bring further economic benefit to a district which owes part of its settled prosperity to the big Comox RCAF station.

Even so, I think most Islanders will agree with Ron Ellis. We don't want those American warheads... we may even yearn for a more innocent day when a fire-bombing with jelled gasoline marked the limit of man's destructive ingenuity... but the clock isn't about to turn itself back.

If Courtenay-Comox people are prepared to live with the hellish things, so too am I.

But Mr. Strachan isn't, and gives his reason in forthright terms.

The fact that I can't look on his view as valid in no way diminishes my respect for a veteran legislator who has played conscience to government times beyond number. I wish, though, that Mr. Strachan and the NDP party at large would abandon what strikes me as a head-in-the-sand attitude about these nuclear warheads.

In a future war Vancouver Island might or might not be an important target.

I don't think it would be, even with our Comox and Esquimalt bases. I'm not even sure that all Canada offers more than two, or at most three targets worth an enemy power's attention.

But this is guesswork, and it may be the proposed Comox weapons dump might win us a red pin on an attack map.

This risk we must take. No use to divert the mad dog into somebody else's street. We are not Vancouver Islanders or British Columbians but Canadians, and when confronted with the nightmare potential of nuclear war, should begin to think as such.

If we must have nuclear arms, Mr. Strachan urges in effect, let them be stored in someone else's yard.

If Canadians must be blasted, let them be Vancouverites, or Manitobans, or New Brunswickers.

I can't buy that concept. It's the sectionalism of a house divided; and the fate of such houses is known to all.

In addition, it is unrealistic. It assumes a world where the bully won't hit a kid with glasses on. But we've lost that snug world, and no future war is likely to respect the open city, the undefended island. High megaton overkill makes no allowance for such amenities.

Should such a war materialize, I haven't the least notion how effective in offence or defence our Island bases will be. I don't think anyone else knows, either.

But since this weapon we deprecate has perhaps been the main factor in keeping us safe from a shooting war these last few years, I suspect we'd best keep it handy yet a while.

That's why I prefer to go along with the chairman of Comox village.

MARY PANEGOOSHO
... now warm enough to smile.

Eskimo Beauty Opens Native Art Show Here

By NORMAN CRIBBENS

Prettiest editor in Canada is probably 23-year-old Mary Panegoosho, an Eskimo lovely from Arctic Baffin Island.

Editor of the magazine "Eskimo Way," in two dialects, she is in Victoria to open The Igloo, an exhibition of Eskimo arts and crafts in the Douglas Room of the Hudson's Bay store. It opens Friday at 3 p.m.

"I have seen Victoria only a few hours and it must be the loveliest city in Canada," smiled Miss Panegoosho.

"Then it is the right place for you," said one of the Hudson's Bay gallants as he escorted the petite raven-haired visitor through The Igloo.

Inlet, Baffin Island, four years ago to join the federal department of Northern Affairs (her publisher) in Ottawa. Still at home are her father — an RCMP officer — her mother, six sisters and three brothers.

"My father and my brothers hunt walrus and polar bears," Miss Panegoosho said. "Most of our people are keen hunters. Myself I prefer painting and handicrafts. We have many talented artists and I am happy their work is being shown here."

The visitor revealed that Canada's Eskimos are leaving the igloo way of life, except when hunting and fishing away from home. All the children go to school and some are moving south to attend university.

WRITING DIFFERS

In the eastern Arctic a syllabic language — similar to shorthand — is written and spoken; in the western area the Roman alphabet is used.

"They learned the alphabet on missionaries," Miss Panegoosho said. "I translate my paper Eskimo Way, into the two languages. It is published three times a year so that my people can learn what is happening in Ottawa and across Canada."

"There are some 11,500 Eskimos in the whole of Canada, but only 200 of them live at my home, Pond Inlet. They are friendly people and they enjoy welcoming visitors from the south."

Plaque Presented By Claremont Grads

Graduating Grade 12 students at Claremont Senior Secondary School presented a plaque to the school during graduation ceremonies Wednesday night.

President of the class Joan Youell made the presentation. Cheryl Moyer was class valedictorian.

WEEK OF NIGHT

There is no sunshine at Pond Inlet during December and for one week there is no light at all. Winter temperatures range from 10 above to 45 below zero. "It is so cold you cannot smile."

Surprisingly, the visitor is "unattached" but says she has many good friends in Ottawa. The exhibition she will open Friday will continue until Aug. 25. It will feature the Eskimo paintings of Victoria artist Geneva Lent of 808 St. Charles and many authentic Eskimo works.

In Victoria, Miss Panegoosho is staying with Mr. and Mrs. Alan Neuert at 1642 Warren Gardens.

ASSINIBOINE MAY BE LATE FOR CEREMONY

Everyone's Ready But the Bride

By MONTE ROBERTS

They're going ahead with the ceremony, whether the central figure is ready or not.

And the central figure looked anything but ready today, as workmen from Victoria Machinery Depot and HMC Dockyard swarmed over her in the final stages of a major conversion.

The central figure is DDE 234, which will be commissioned into the Royal Canadian Navy Friday as HMCS Assiniboine.

It is the second commissioning for Assiniboine, the first being in August, 1956, at Sorel, Quebec. She served out of Halifax before being transferred to the Pacific Command in February, 1956, and was senior ship of the Second Canadian Escort Squadron until she was paid-off in June, 1962, and taken in hand for conversion by VMD.

FIRST OF SEVEN

She is the first of seven St. Laurent-class destroyers to have two valuable anti-submarine weapons added to her arsenal; her own helicopter, with dunking sonar and weapons; and a Canadian-developed variable-depth sonar supplementing her detection devices.

The installation of a hangar and flight deck for the helicopter brings the biggest change in her appearance, as the photo shows. The former single stack has been split into two funnels, and the VDS at the stern also changes her appearance. But the biggest changes don't meet the eye, and explain why workmen are still swarming over her on the eve of her second coming-out.

Except for main machinery spaces and the hull itself, the conversion has called for an almost total redesign inside the ship.

2,400 MAN-MONTHS

It is estimated the work represents about 2,400 man-months of work.

Main projects involved strengthening the hull, providing hangar and fueling facilities for heavy-duty anti-submarine helicopters, altering the stern for VDS and associated equipment, rearranging office and accommodation facilities, extensive rewiring and adding activated fin stabilizers to the hull to reduce roll in rough weather as an aid to 'copter operations.

The commissioning ceremonies will go ahead Friday so the ship can meet her commitments post conversion trials in August, then a transfer back to the Atlantic Command in mid-September.

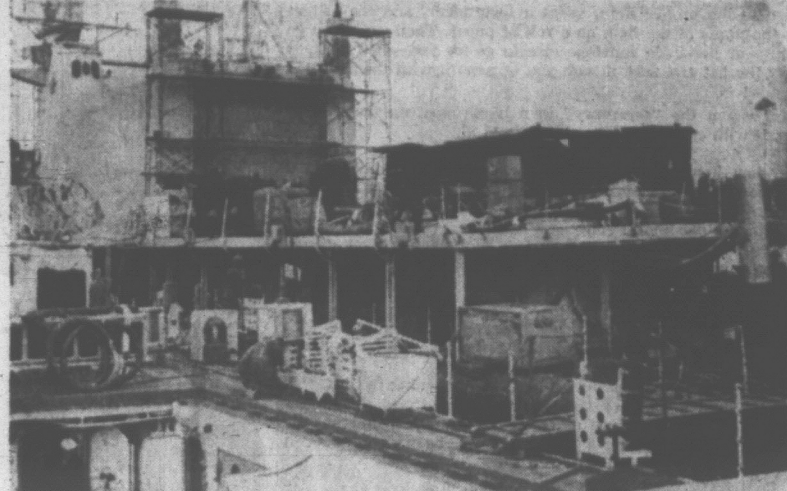

SINGLE SPEECH

The ceremony will be briefier than the usual commissioning, with only one speech, by the commanding officer, Cmdr. Walter S. Blandy, scheduled.

The ceremony will be at dockside on Jetty C, HMC Dockyard at 11:15 a.m., where the Assiniboine lies outboard of HMCS Saguenay. The religious service will be conducted by Rev. A. J. Mowatt, Protestant chaplain, and Rev. Hugh McGeehan, Roman Catholic chaplain.

'No High-Rise Ever On Campus Fringes'

By IAIN HUNTER

Chairman of the University Development Board said today, high-rise apartments never will be built on the fringe of Gordon Head campus.

Harold B. Elworthy was commenting on Cadboro Bay Ratepayers' Association letter to the University Development Board said that Oak Bay council "has inferred it will no longer insist that the university be ringed with apartments and other commercial developments."

Under a purchase agreement with Oak Bay municipality, the university land is reserved for apartment and commercial development. This freeze could hold for 75 years.

Mr. Elworthy stated that the standing agreement has never been challenged by the board.

NEW IDENTITY DUE

But he also pointed out the board would have a "new identity" from July 1, when Victoria College becomes the University of Victoria.

"Until then this board has to honor the original conditions," he said. "We will not tie the hands of the new board."

Speaking personally, Mr. Elworthy, who recently was named a governor of the University of Victoria, said the controversy about high-rise apartments "ringing" the campus was unnecessary.

NOT WORRIED

"I'm not worried because I know they're not going in there," he said.

Although the 400-foot strip of land on the south side of the campus, and on the west side up to the Saanich boundary, is reserved for high-rise development, the college still would have the final say on the type of buildings to be erected.

Theoretically, university architects could condemn all proposed plans for apartments. The land then might lie fallow for 75 years by which time the university will control the property outright.

Mr. Elworthy also said he couldn't foresee high-rise apartments being built across from the campus on the other side of Cedar Hill or Gordon Head Roads.

"I can't see anyone being that stupid," he said. "I don't think it presents a problem at all."

CEREMONY TODAY

25 Civic Employees Win 25-Year Badges

A total of 807 years service divided among 25 City Hall employees was to be recognized today in a special ceremony at a city council meeting.

Mayor R. B. Wilson was to present long-service lapel pins to members of the Quarter-Century Club in the first ceremony of its kind.

The mayor persuaded city council earlier this year to order the gold pins, bearing the city's seal in relief, along with diamond chips for every five years' service beyond 25 years.

All 25 persons who qualify now will receive this mark of recognition at the mass ceremony. Individual presentations will be made to those who enter the club in future.

Longest service record is held by former chief cashier J. I. Smith, the only member of the club who has retired. He served at City Hall for 47 years, joining the staff Dec. 11, 1911.

Others on the honor list and their years of service are: M. F. Hunter, 45; J. R. Mays, 44; A. G. Joyce, 39; T. G. Harris, 36; W. E. Farmer, 35; E. S. Gropp, 35; W. G. Hook, 34; G. F. Sharpe, 34; A. McKiernon, 33; S. R. Carter, 32; W. H. Warren, 32; B. Sullivan, 31; W. G.

The Cadboro Bay Ratepayers' Association letter to the University Development Board said that Oak Bay council "has inferred it will no longer insist that the university be ringed with apartments and other commercial developments."

"We further understand from press reports that Oak Bay Council has inferred that if the University board makes the request, this unfortunate apartment and commercial zoning will be rescinded."

The letter said that "a large number of Saanich residents in the University area, is overwhelmingly in favor of the University taking a fearless stand" to prevent "short-sighted commercial and apartment development."

However, it is understood Oak Bay council only would "consider" such a request from the university.

An Oak Bay official said today a number of parties already have shown an interest in developing the property in question.

The highway death rate continues to mount at an alarming pace in B.C., the provincial motor vehicles branch reported today.

There were 124 people killed on the roads up to the end of May—19 more than the same time last year.

Last year's total of 385 deaths was a record, bound to be surpassed in 1963 if the current pace continues.

There were 24 traffic deaths in May alone this year, seven more than 1962, which is an ill omen for summer holiday travellers.

Total of all types of traffic accidents this year to date is 10,667, a 4 per cent increase over 1962.

A preliminary hearing into 11 counts of "possession of stolen property against Arian Roy will continue in Saanich police court next Wednesday.

Since the hearing began Tuesday morning a long list of exhibits has been entered in the case. Roy, previously represented by counsel, is now defending himself.

City Hall will start humming next week like it never has before during the normally slack summer period.

Dennis Young, new city manager, is expected to arrive during the week and immediately plunge into reviewing a flock of postponed projects on which council wants his advice.

Probably the most important of these is a decision on what should be included in the capital works money bylaw proposed for ratepayers' vote this year.

Mr. Young, former assistant city manager and comptroller-treasurer here, is returning to the top non-elective civic post after serving several years as chief financial officer in Hamilton, Ont.

Residents of the John Dean Park area Wednesday night collected about $3,000 toward a $150,000 scheme to pipe water to their houses.

About 100 residents gathered in the farmers' pavilion at the Experimental Farm for explanation of the scheme to connect their houses to the Central Saanich source at Elk Lake.

The $3,000 was collected from people signing a formal petition for the hook-up. Canvassers will cover some of the 300 houses involved to collect more signatures.

B.C. BEST FOR HOLIDAYS, TOURING MINISTER SAYS

"Stay home for your holidays" is Recreation Minister Earle Westwood's plea to British Columbians.

By "home" he means B.C. He has just returned to Victoria from a tour of the province.

"The highways are in first class condition, the accommodation picture is excellent and the quality of meals and service is at a new high," he said today.

Mr. Westwood said British

Social Credit MLA William Speare is in Jubilee Hospital here with a bleeding ulcer.

Mr. Speare, member for Cariboo, lives in Central Saanich.

His condition was "good" according to hospital authorities. He was admitted last Friday, but so far has not undergone any surgery.

Mr. Speare, 47, has been a member of the legislature since 1957.

Retirement of Thomas Emerson, for 40 years headmaster of Malvern House School, was announced during prize-giving ceremonies Wednesday night at the school.

Succeeding Mr. Emerson will be Colonel and Mrs. P. T. Sealy of Westerham School.

A tribute to the retiring headmaster was paid by Squadron-Leader Clarence S. Goode, who also presented prizes.

Graeme Paterson was winner of the Victor Laureorem cup.

Police crackdown on overnight street parkers was urged on city council Wednesday by Mrs. Harold Sandall, 292 Douglas. She complained that cars owned by tenants or visitors at high rise apartments nearby were parked all night in a Beacon Hill parking bay on the east side of Douglas which she claimed was illegal.

Columbians will find a holiday spent in their home province is cheaper, the weather better and the scenery grander than anywhere else.

"We spend a lot of money to bring people to B.C. because it means revenue for all of us."

By the same token every British Columbian who spends his holiday money within the province is keeping it working at home, and making an extra contribution to the well-being of all of us."

Columbia
Hitch
Denied

So far as the B.C. government is concerned, its agreement with Ottawa on development of the Columbia River project is all on the rails and ready for signing by both parties.

This was made clear today by both Premier Bennett and Lands Minister Ray Williston, despite reports from Ottawa Wednesday that some last minute hitches have developed.

Premier Bennett said his understanding was that the agreement was to be placed before the federal cabinet at its meeting today.

Final details were worked out after three days of meetings between B.C. and federal officials ended in the national capital on Wednesday.

Mr. Bennett and Mr. Williston were furious at Ottawa reports which suggested the agreement was facing new snags and that new cost estimates would throw the whole plan out of kilter.

"Nothing but political propaganda—from what motives I would not know," snapped the premier.

"Complete garbage," snorted Mr. Williston.

'Nothing
Clewed Up'

Times Ottawa Bureau

OTTAWA — Acting Prime Minister Chevrier today told the Commons that "nothing has been clewed up insofar as the Columbia River is concerned."

He was answering a question by H. W. Herdridge (NDP—Kootenay West), about reports from Victoria that the B.C. government denied the existence of any new difficulties.

"I can only say that the negotiations are under way and it would not be proper at this stage to reveal their nature," External Affairs Minister Martin added.

Yemeni Free
Two Soldiers

ADEN (Reuters)—Two of 18 British soldiers held by Yemeni tribesmen have been released because of illness and are being flown to Aden, an army spokesman announced today.

The other 16 servicemen today were removed at gunpoint from the Yemeni customs post where they were being held, and were presumed to be heading for the capital of Yemen, the army spokesman said.

'FACTS ONLY'

Staff Chiefs
To Testify

OTTAWA (CP)—The new Commons defence committee agreed today to a precedent-setting move—hearing testimony by the chiefs of staff of the armed forces.

At its opening meeting the committee adopted without discussion a proposal that it hear evidence by the chairman of the chiefs of staff committee and by representatives of the three armed forces and the Defence Research Board.

The proposal came from the committee's all-party steering subcommittee.

External Affairs Minister Martin also will be invited to testify. As well, the committee has power to hear from outside witnesses.

The motion adopted by the committee did not specify what representatives of the three forces will appear. But it was learned that the chiefs of staff likely will testify.

Defence Minister Hellyer has approved the move. The service chiefs will testify on points of fact but not on policy.

A Liberal Party bid for a non-partisan approach to the work of the committee was stopped in its tracks today by Gordon Churchill, former Conservative defence minister.

The appeal was made by chairman Paul Sauve (L—Des-de-la-Madeleine) as the committee opened its first meeting.

Mr. Sauve asked for restoration of what he said had been non-partisan support by all political parties for defence policies during "many periods in the past." He said in an opening statement:

"We are not interested in attributing blame or diagnosing responsibility. We are interested in the future."

CALLS IT UNUSUAL

Mr. Churchill, terming the statement "a bit unusual" said he could accept it only as a statement of Mr. Sauve's personal opinion.

"If we are going to get off on the right foot I think it better for the committee to determine its own purposes."

Harold Winch (NDP—Vancouver East) said Mr. Sauve "had the right idea," though the committee was interested in present as well as future defence policy.

Gerald Laniel (L—Beauharnois-Salaberry), proposed a motion to adopt Mr. Sauve's statement as committee policy. But when Gerald Baldwin (PC—Peace River), disagreed, Mr. Sauve said quickly that there was no need for any motion.

Mr. Sauve said: "We want Continued on Page 2

... revamps policy

Stockpiled
Arms 'Safe'

By ALEX YOUNG
Times Ottawa Bureau

OTTAWA—Voodoo interceptors stationed at five RCAF bases across Canada—including those at Comox, B.C.—will not be "flying around during day-to-day operations" with nuclear rockets aboard, Defence Minister Paul Hellyer promised today.

"Normal training and operational interceptions would be done, as they are by the U.S. Air Force, with aircraft equipped with high explosive—not atomic—rockets," Mr. Hellyer told the Commons defence committee.

But in the event of attack on North America they would be armed with nuclear warheads. Those weapons, however, would have to be released by the president of the U.S., and then no take-off of the RCAF planes would be permitted without the next step.

Birks' Alarm
Didn't Ring

A jewel thief removed about $4,000 worth of diamond rings from their cases in a Yates Street window of Henry Birks & Sons overnight.

The thief smashed the armor plate glass by heaving a rock through it. Police are investigating why the burglar alarm did not sound when the window was broken.

The smash and grab raid was discovered by a janitor when he went to work at the store shortly before 7 this morning.

City police immediately alerted RCMP and Vancouver police about the theft and then checked all Victoria hotels looking for known criminals.

THREE DOZEN

About three dozen rings are missing from the window. A complete inventory has not been made but it appears their value would be between $4,000 and $4,500.

A few pieces of jewelry farther back in the window were left by the robber. All the rings that were taken were carefully removed from their display pads.

A company spokesman refused to comment on why the burglar alarm failed to operate. The alarm system is connected with the charge office in the city police station where it would have sounded an alert if it had functioned properly.

A test was run on the alarm system after the theft was discovered. It showed it was functioning and a police officer said the system was collected before the store closed for business Wednesday.

TIME NOT KNOWN
City police have not yet ascertained at what time the window was smashed. It is not known when the store was last checked by patrol officers.

Considerable force would be needed to break the window with a rock. The armor plate glass shatters instead of splintering when it is broken.

The store spokesman said it is company policy to remove the most valuable jewelry from window displays overnight.

This is the first time there has been a smash and grab raid on Birks' store in Victoria.

Frigate Plans
To Be Killed?

OTTAWA (CP)—Defence Minister Hellyer indicated today he wants to scrap the eight-ship, $374,000,000 naval frigate program initiated by the former government to give him financial room to manoeuvre in selection of new weapons.

(B.C. shipbuilders have been counting on getting contracts for three of the proposed frigates—one each to Victoria Machinery Depot Ltd. and Yarrow Ltd. in Victoria, and to Burrard Dry Dock Ltd. in North Vancouver.)

Mr. Hellyer also hinted before the Commons defence committee that more transport aircraft will be obtained to carry at least one 6,000-man army brigade and that he will reject the RCAF's proposal for acquisition of more CF-104 low-level nuclear jet bombers.

Mr. Hellyer, in his first major policy speech since he assumed the defence portfolio April 22, said at one point: "All major procurement programs are being reconsidered. In particular, any procurement program which would tend to limit future policy or interfere with the exercise of future options is being carefully reviewed."

One of these options, he said, was construction of fast anti-submarine hydrofoil boats. A $9,100,000 contract was awarded to de Havilland Aircraft of Canada Limited last month for a prototype 200-ton hydrofoil.

Decision Due 'In Few Weeks'

Mr. Hellyer said he hopes decisions on existing weapons projects will be taken "within a few weeks." After that, a general review of future policy would start.

He said he is "considerably concerned" about the effectiveness of the four CF-104 squadrons to be based in France because France does not allow American nuclear warheads on her territory.

"We intend to review carefully the question before proceeding with any additional procurement," the 38-year-old minister said.

NEIGHBORS ALL DROPPED IN

'Cousin Jack' Visits Home of Forefathers

DUNGANSTOWN, Ireland. (AP) — President Kennedy returned to the homestead of his Irish forefathers today and drank tea in the barnyard with his cousins and their neighbors.

The president's third cousin, widow Mary Ann Ryan, laid long tables for tea, cakes and pies to serve "cousin Jack."

Neighbors, some in their Sunday best and some in aprons, helped serve.

The party assembled in the barnyard between Mrs. Ryan's house and the tin-roofed cottage the president's great-grandfather Patrick Kennedy left when he emigrated to Boston 120 years ago.

The cottage now is a storage shed.

Hundreds of jubilant Irish milled around the lane in front of Mrs. Ryan's home.

The president came to the hamlet of Dunganstown after a tumultuous welcome from thousands at nearby New Ross, the port from which Patrick Kennedy sailed to the United States.

"If he hadn't left, I'd be working at the Albatross Company," Kennedy told the welcome, drawing a roar of laughter.

The Albatross Company is a fertilizer factory on the other side of the River Barrow.

The president arrived in New Ross by helicopter and drove to his ancestral home. The farmyard was crammed with Kennedy's. Mrs. Ryan was a Kennedy and she introduced cousins, uncles and aunts.

In the field behind the farmhouse, where the presidential helicopter was parked, several dozen children assembled as a "guard of honor." The little girls—star-eyed and combed—looked uncomfortable but pretty.

Mrs. Ryan served the president his tea, which he took with sugar. He munched on a sandwich and chatted in complete informality with the Irish farmers, their wives and children.

Ryan and "all the Kennedys who stayed here" for the party.

"This was a fine effort and we thank you very much," the president said. "I promise you we won't come back often than once every 10 years."

Professional and amateur photographers went to work on the family gathering and Kennedy obliged by posing with the Irish Kennedys.

Ambassador Matthew McCloskey kept reminding the president it was time to go but Kennedy was having too good a time to tear himself away
